Cohn Pays Sen. M'Carthy Fervent Tribute

Curtain May Close Today On Hearings

Counsel Says Senator Is "Great American"; M'Carthy To Testify

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The McCarthy-Army drama reached its final act today after a fervent tribute to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) by his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn. Cohn turned the witness stand back to McCarthy, who will testify tomorrow as the final witness, and praised the senator as "a great American" whose "only crime has been doing his level best to try and protect the nation from Communist infiltration."

In almost reverent tones, the 27-year-old Cohn by inference defended McCarthy against the "reckless cruelty" charge hurled at him last week by the Army side's chief counsel, Joseph N. Welch.

"I have never known a man," said Cohn, "with less unkindness . . . with less lack of charity in his soul."

The end of the long-drawn-out televised hearings approached swiftly with both Cohn and Francis P. Carr, staff director of McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee, winding up their testimony.

Denies Army Suggestion
Welch, whose cross-examination of McCarthy will largely determine how soon the end will come, told newsmen there is a good chance the curtain will fall tomorrow.

Cohn's last round of cross-examination took only 25 minutes. Apart from his volunteered tribute to McCarthy, about all he did was to deny in terms of contempt a suggestion from the Army side that he—and not the Wisconsin senator—has been in control of the McCarthy subcommittee.

"Too ridiculous for comment," Cohn said, his lip curling.

With a broad smile, McCarthy added that anyone who has been watching the 34 days of hearings on television will agree that the senators "are very hard to control."

McCarthy and Welch tangled briefly when the 63-year-old Boston lawyer questioned the word of the senator's secretary, Mrs. Mary Driscoll, who had testified previously she typed a Jan. 17 memo from Carr to McCarthy.

"I suggest she did not type it," Welch told Carr, renewing a previous controversy over a series of Carr-Cohn-McCarthy memos whose authenticity the Army side has long questioned.

McCarthy demanded Welch either apologize to Mrs. Driscoll or be sworn as a witness.

Some groans were heard from the audience, and McCarthy told Welch sharply:

"I know you've got your claque here, but it doesn't influence me." Welch's argument: The memo was headed "Francis P. Carr to Sen. McCarthy." And the lawyer said Mrs. Driscoll never in her life called Carr anything but "Frank" or "Mr. Carr."

Welsh Goes Over Memos
Welch went over the series of memos with Carr, almost line-by-line. His obvious purpose, though he didn't say so, was to suggest they were put together after the McCarthy-Army feud reached the boiling point around March 10—and not, as the dates on the memos

Rules Group Gets Flanders Motion To Oust M'Carthy
WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The Senate relegated to its Rules Committee today a motion by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) to oust Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), as chairman of the powerful Government Operations Committee.

Flanders agreed to let the Rules Committee take over his motion—a hot potato for the GOP leadership in the Senate—but said that if the committee failed to act by mid-July he would bring the question back on the Senate floor.

Mechanic Sucked Into Jet Engine Inlet Survives

MARIETTA, Ga., June 15 (AP)—A flight line mechanic of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. here was sucked head and arms into the air inlet section of a huge and powerful jet engine early today and survived.

The power of the engine, one of six on a giant B47 bomber, had been cut and a fellow workman yanked F. L. Morgan, 39, to safety by his leg.

The mechanic and an engineer were checking the engine for vibration. Morgan had signaled the engineer to cut the engine but as he turned there was enough suction left to drag him in.

French To Act Thursday On New Premier

PARIS, June 15 (AP)—Pierre Mendes-France said today he expects to ask the French National Assembly Thursday to confirm as Premier.

He was reported to have told political supporters he would resign the job if it took Communist votes to make up the necessary majority.

Mendes-France was named by President Rene Coty to succeed Joseph Laniel, whose government was toppled in a confidence vote in the Assembly Saturday on Indochina.

The statement about the Premier-designate's plans to seek confirmation was made at a news conference. Mendes-France also appeared before two caucuses of the Radical Socialist (Moderate) party, of which he is a member. Other leaders who attended quoted him as saying it was an insult to suppose he had any intention of overturning French alliances with the West.

On the question of proposed six-nation European army, which would permit the rearming of West Germans for the first time since 1945, Mendes-France promised a parliamentary debate soon if he is voted in. He made it plain, however, that the debate would not be on ratification of the treaty, which all members but France and Italy have ratified. What he wants is a full discussion to resolve differences on the subject among Western-minded Frenchmen.

He said such debate should be able to work out some formula most Frenchmen favor. It could then be used to make changes in the European Defense Community treaty as it now stands.

Mendes-France's attitude on EDC is not likely to win him support from the Popular Republican Movement. It is not likely that he can get a majority in the Assembly without MRP support.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 15 (AP)—The mystery of the rose cropped up again today to baffle Louisville police for the 10th year in a row.

Two dozen of the flowers arrived at the Crime Prevention Bureau this morning, as they have every year on June 15. That's the anniversary of the bureau's founding in 1943. Who sends them is a mystery.

Shakes Hands With Boss

Claim Cities Don't Reimburse Red Cross

LOS ANGELES, June 15 (AP)—A statement by the chairman of the American National Red Cross that some tornado-stricken cities hadn't reimbursed the Red Cross for help kicked up a cross country storm today.

Chairman E. Roland Harriman, addressing the American National Red Cross convention yesterday, singled out Flint, Mich. The mayor of Flint said today this was "an unjustified attack on the people and the city."

Harriman said, "This kind of situation has also happened elsewhere," and another Red Cross official said two other cities hit by tornadoes last year, Waco, Tex. and Worcester, Mass., were involved.

The crux of the controversy seemed to be: Should a stricken community that collects a supplemental fund reimburse the Red Cross for meeting basic needs? Or should it supplement Red Cross help and try to rehabilitate victims as nearly as possible to the previous status?

Harriman told the convention: "Developments in recent disaster operations make it necessary for the Red Cross to return to its previous practice of conducting special campaigns when disasters strike."

"The American people have supported the Red Cross disaster programs because they have been in sympathy with . . . our sound policy of meeting . . . basic needs alone . . ."

"We have never considered that the public wishes us to act as an insurance company and replace disaster losses on the basis of loss . . ."

"When a community wishes to spend disaster funds raised by its own citizens in its own way, it has every right to do so. But first things come first."

He said that when a tornado struck Flint last June, the Red Cross "spent nearly $600,000 contributed by all the country. Meanwhile a committee in Flint solicited funds and received over $900,000. Not one cent of this was turned over to Red Cross to meet needs."

"On the contrary," Harriman added, "after Red Cross finished its job, all that money was distributed to people over and above what they had received from Red Cross—irrespective of whether they could have taken care of themselves from then on in whole or in part."

Flint Mayor Donald Riegle said he understood that "a good deal" of the money contributed after the death of Sergei S. Yudin, 64, prominent Russian surgeon. He won a Stalin prize in 1948 for working out a new method of reconstructive surgery making use of an artificial esophagus.

Ike, Churchill Conference Is Set June 25th

Prime Minister To Fly To States For White House Talks

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill will sit down in the White House June 25 in a historic conference designed to harmonize the two nations' conflicting policies on coping with Communist aggression.

Announcement that the 79-year-old British Prime Minister would come here for the weekend beginning June 25 was made at the White House and in London.

Within minutes Secretary of State Dulles expressed the hope it would lead to new progress in his drive to enlist Britain and other Western countries in a "united front" to block Red expansion in Southeast Asia.

Three Day Meeting
Dulles, who is to attend the three-day meeting along with British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, said Britain apparently feels the possibilities for negotiating an Indochina peace have been exhausted at Geneva and that alternatives now can be considered.

Every critical world problem will be discussed at the high level meeting, he said, including the possibility of some new plan for adding German troops to Western defenses in Europe.

Dulles acknowledged that the current French government crisis, brought about by the collapse of the government headed by Joseph Laniel, threatens new delay in long-standing plans to create a new six-nation European Army which would include Germany.

The White House in its terse announcement, gave no hint about the specific problems to be reviewed at the weekend talks which bring together Eisenhower and Churchill for the first time since they met at Bermuda early last December.

Responsible diplomats said the main purpose of the conference will be to try to patch up the growing differences between Britain and the United States over Far Eastern policy.

Britain Prefers To Wait
The United States has been trying to build up a Far Eastern alliance against communism, but Britain has preferred to wait until it was determined whether some settlement of the Indochina war could be negotiated at Geneva.

The meeting reportedly was suggested by Churchill more than a month ago when a split over Indochina became evident, but it was delayed until the end of the Geneva conference was in sight.

The French government will not be represented at the White House meeting. In reporting this, Dulles sought to ease any French disappointment by stressing that no decisions involving other governments would be made.

Baltimore School Segregation Won't Be Too Difficult
BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—Ending segregation in Baltimore's public schools will be accomplished next fall in good spirit and with few dislocations, Dr. John H. Fischer, the city's superintendent of schools, has assured his 4,500 teachers.

Dr. Fischer spoke to half of them today at the second of two special meetings called specially for the purpose.

There will be no sweeping reorganization in order to integrate the schools, Dr. Fischer predicted. There will be no large-scale transfers of pupils. No teachers or staff members will be discharged.

Race simply will be removed as one of the qualifications for entry to schools, he said, adding: "There is abundant evidence that good will and good sense are widely distributed among our people, and that these qualities are characteristics of both our races."

Ike To Participate In Defense Conference
WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower arranged today to take part Saturday in a conference of top Defense Department officials at Quantico, Va. Marine Corps Base.

The conference, similar to one last year, has been set up by Secretary of Defense Wilson starting Thursday and continuing through the weekend.

Exiled Leader Expects Return To Guatemala

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 15 (AP)—An exiled resistance leader declared here today he will return "very shortly" to Guatemala, where an imminent showdown seemed in prospect between the army and the leftist government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

Private advices from Guatemala's capital said 80 army officers had handed a questionnaire to Arbenz regarding Communist influences in the country and demanded a satisfactory reply by the end of this week.

This threw a somewhat different light on developments in tense censorship—blanketed Guatemala than reports reaching Washington last night. The earlier reports said the army had given Arbenz an ultimatum to break with the Reds by today or resign.

Today in Washington U. S. Secretary of State Dulles told newsmen Arbenz' Red-tinted regime is waging a reign of terror. Dulles referred to a recent statement by an unidentified Guatemalan cabinet minister that any disturbances would be met by beheading anti-Communists. Dulles said he had some reports on the Guatemalan army's demands but no firm information.

A broadcast by the Guatemalan government radio, heard here today, denied "categorically" the report of the army ultimatum. The broadcast, quoting a spokesman for the Foreign Ministry and the secretary of propaganda—neither identified—said "now more than ever the army and people of Guatemala offer their support" to Arbenz.

The denial was repeated by the station every five minutes.

Carlos Castillo Armas, former Guatemalan army officer who heads the resistance movement with headquarters here, issued a statement addressed to his compatriots. He told them to "have faith and confidence that I shall be with you very shortly."

ROME, June 15 (AP)—The United States opened its first atomic road show today.

The world premiere featured some fairly restrained pitchmen, a variety of gadgets that whirled and blinked lights, and even a few pretty girls.

Out of one of the show's five big trucks came a magnified voice speaking in Italian. It was the voice of Prof. Enrico Fermi, the Nobel prize-winning physicist who helped create the atomic bomb, telling Italians "the atom is international," the combined work of nuclear scientists of many countries.

That set the tone for the show. For this extravaganza, sponsored by the U. S. Information Agency, is a serious attempt to tell the

16 UN Allies Say Efforts On Korea Fail

Molotov Assails End Of Conference After Reds Try To Continue

GENEVA, June 15 (AP)—The 16 U. N. Allies who fought the Reds in Korea regrettably broke off negotiations seeking a peace settlement for that war-ravaged peninsula today after seven weeks of fruitless argument with the Soviet Bloc.

The talks on Indochina also appeared to be headed for an inconclusive breakup by the end of the week.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov promptly assailed the break. He said the 16 countries—The United States, Britain, France, Australia, Belgium, Canada, Colombia, Ethiopia, Greece, Luxembourg, New Zealand, Netherlands, Philippines, South Korea, Thailand and Turkey—will have to bear the responsibility.

Rejected All Efforts
The Allies said in a statement explaining their decision they broke off the talks "reluctantly and regretfully." They added the "communist delegations have rejected all our efforts" to settle the deadlocked Korean problem.

The decision followed closely on the heels of a last-minute effort by the Communist North Korean delegation to prolong the negotiations by introducing a new proposal. The resolution offered by North Korean Foreign Minister Nam Il called for (1) withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea—a familiar Communist demand which has been rejected repeatedly by the West; (2) reduction of the North and South Korean armies facing each other to 100,000 each; (3) cancellation of treaties involving military obligations for either part of Korea, and (4) formation of all-Korean commissions to work out arrangements for peaceful development of the divided peninsula.

The proposal had the immediate backing of Molotov and Red China's Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai. Molotov also offered his own resolution providing that no acts threatening the peace in Korea will be made pending final settlement of the Korean problem "on the basis of the establishment of a united, independent and democratic state."

Contains Provisions
U. S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith, commenting on the Molotov proposal, said the present armistice agreement in Korea "contains specific provisions for its continuance as long as the Communists observe it" and for settlement of any violations through negotiations.

Red China's chief delegate also tried at the last moment to push through a proposal for another round of negotiations on Korea, demanding that the 19 nations gathered here for the Korean talks "continue their efforts toward achieving an agreement . . ." in future talks to be decided later.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak supported this proposal. But Smith and Australian Foreign Minister Robert G. Casey opposed it.

Smith said the Geneva conference was not a permanent organization like the United Nations. Since unanimous approval was required for adoption of Chou's proposal, it was dropped after Molotov asked that it be noted in the conference record.

That was the final action before Eden, conference chairman, banged to a close the frustrating 15 sessions and approximately 60 hours of debate on Korea. Neither side had been budged from its position on the fundamental disagreements since the conference opened April 26.

Scientist Probe Data Revealed

Oppenheimer Named Both Loyal And Spy In Secret Testimony

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—Atomic scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer was variously pictured at his recent security hearing as a probable Russian agent and as a patriotic American, a transcript of the proceedings showed tonight.

The praise for Oppenheimer came from Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. The condemnation came from William L. Borden, former executive secretary of the Senate House Atomic Committee.

The two men were among many who testified pro and con in the lengthy hearing conducted by a special AEC security board. The board ruled on May 27 that Oppenheimer was a loyal American, but decided 2-1 that he was a security risk not entitled to access to atomic data.

Oppenheimer, a principal builder of the atomic bomb, has denied he ever was a Communist, although he said he did have Red association in the past. He has expressed complete devotion to America, and Dean backed him in these words:

"He is a very human man, a sensitive man, a very well educated man, a man of complete integrity in my association with him. And a very devoted man to his country, and certainly to the commission. No question of these things in my mind."

Borden read a letter he said he wrote to FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover Nov. 7, 1953. The letter related a series of charges against Oppenheimer, most of which had been brought out—and denied by Oppenheimer—but which Borden said justified the belief that Oppenheimer willingly spied for the Soviets.

Borden also said his opinion that Oppenheimer "more probably than not is an agent of the Soviet Union" was based on "evidence indicating" he hired a number of Communists for the A-bomb project, and supported the H-bomb until an A-bomb was dropped on Hiroshima "on which day he personally urged each senior individual working in this field to desist."

Borden's letter was admitted to the record over the objections of counsel for Oppenheimer, who protested against bringing in a witness "to make this kind of an accusation not dreamed of in this proceeding up to this point."

Policeman Is Held For Slaying Negro During Manhunt

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—Sgt. Louis M. Rehak was held for grand jury action today on a charge of shooting and causing the death of a 22-year-old Negro during a manhunt for the gunman who wounded a fellow policeman.

Rehak was released in the custody of his commanding officer. He is accused of causing the death of James D. Broadus who was shot four times last May 18 during a house-to-house police search for a Negro gunman who had wounded a detective.

Three of the bullets entered Broadus' back. He was shot in the back yard of his home minutes after the suspect of the search was seized.

Ten witnesses, eight of them policemen, testified at a hearing for Rehak today.

Sgt. Rehak reported that Broadus jumped out from under a tarpaulin and attacked him with a chisel.

would indicate, prepared between Oct. 2 and March 11.

After Carr left the witness stand, Cohn identified for the record some documents showing, he said, "a very small part" of the work.

Schine did for the subcommittee after entering the Army. The Army side has questioned whether Schine really did much work on the frequent leaves he was given at Ft. Dix, N.J., for that purpose.

"Where," demanded Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), thumbing through the folder of papers, "is the rest of it?"

Cohn said there wasn't much documentary evidence—Schine's original drafts of subcommittee reports, he said, were not preserved, and he added it was "pure accident" some of his own notes were saved.

"Pure accident?" repeated McClellan, with a skeptical smile. "It may be."

When Cohn finished answering the handful of questions put to him, McCarthy asked if there was anything he wanted to add to his testimony. The young lawyer nodded and said he wanted to make a short statement.

Cohn said of his fellow staff members that they have done a fine job weeding out Communists from the government, and elsewhere, and have worked day and night because "they believe in a cause—the protection of this nation against Communist infiltration."

He spoke praise for Carr—who, he said, in spite of a fine FBI record, has had to spend months defending himself against "completely unfounded and unsubstantiated charges." Carr was one of the three persons named by the Army—McCarthy and Cohn were the others—in the "improper pressure" charges. The Republicans on the investigating committee, with Democrats dissenting, voted earlier to dismiss charges against him.

Finally, Cohn declared himself on the subject of McCarthy—"to me," he said, "a great American." McCarthy listened with head bowed as Cohn praised him for tolerance and kindness.

Welch listened expressionlessly.

16 Charges Of Mishandling Funds Put Against Hoffman

TRENTON, N. J., June 15 (AP)—The late Harold G. Hoffman, former New Jersey governor, was accused today of mishandling the state's wealthy Division of Employment Security and of making a false deposit of $300,000 involving state funds.

Three top employees of the division Hoffman headed for 15 years were suspended as a result of the long probe. A fourth resigned.

The 44-page report outlining the 16 charges against Hoffman, a Republican, was made by Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner at a special news conference.

It came on the heels of yesterday's startling disclosure that Hoffman, who served in public office for more than 30 years, had embezzled $300,000 to finance his political career and pay off a blackmailing state official, now dead.

Hoffman, a jovial, fun-loving, broad-shouldered man whose hometown of South Amboy named a high school for him, died 11 days ago of a heart attack at the age of 58.

Thousands who came to the funeral to pay him homage were shocked yesterday when his eldest daughter, Mrs. Ada Hoffman Leonard, revealed her father had admitted embezzling $300,000 from the South Amboy Trust Co. of which he was a vice president.

He made the admission in a letter to her to be opened after his death.

Hoffman had been under suspension from his $13,500 post since March 18, when Meyner ordered the division probe.

The charges were drawn up before Hoffman's death and before his embezzlement letter was opened.

Hoffman was accused of making a false deposit of $300,000 of state funds in the South Amboy bank in 1949 and later covering it with a false certification to the state treasurer.

The three employees suspended and to face a public hearing Aug. 16 are William S. Lutz, chief fiscal and personnel officer of the division, a state employee for 15 years; Jean A. Chianese, chief accountant, and Thomas Faherty, supervisor of purchase and stores.

The name of the man who resigned was not disclosed because of his ill health.

Fear Of Cancer Caused Man To Shoot Girl, Self

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—The shooting deaths of a 41-year-old electrician and his 6-year-old daughter were attributed by police today to an unfounded fear of cancer.

Dead were James Stanley Jakubowski, found slumped over in his car beside a suburban Baltimore road yesterday, and his daughter, Shirley, found lying in the road about five feet from the car.

Capt. Wilbur C. Wade of Anne Arundel County police said Jakubowski's wife told him her husband believed he had cancer but was mistaken. The State Medical Examiner's office said it could find no evidence Jakubowski had cancer or ever had been told by a doctor he had cancer.

A communique issued by the U.S. delegation after the third parley with a Red Chinese negotiator stated:

"Claiming that sentences passed on American civilian and military personnel are based on offenses committed in violation of Chinese Communist law, the Chinese Communist representative went on to say, however, that the authorities will consider sentence commutation or the early release of prisoners who have records of good behavior."

Red China issued a parallel communique after the session between U. Alexis Johnson, ambassador to Czechoslovakia, and Wang Ping-nan of China.

Wang also stated the status of individual Americans detained was being checked and when investigations are completed the U.S. delegations will be notified. Johnson handed Wang a list of detainees.

Viet Nam Prince Resigns In Hope To Resist Reds

SAIGON, Indochina, June 15 (AP)—Premier Prince Buu Loc of Viet Nam submitted his resignation today to chief of state Bao Dai in a move to stiffen the nation's resistance to the Communist-led Vietminh.

The Premier, Bao Dai's 42-year-old cousin, sent his resignation to the chief of state at Cannes on the French Riviera. An official announcement is expected tomorrow.

Buu Loc's successor is almost sure to be Ngo Dinh Diem, an ardent Catholic Nationalist and anti-Communist who has been in self-imposed exile for the last three years. He is reported due to arrive within a week.

A man of puritan leanings and unquestioned integrity, Diem has consistently opposed the ex-emperor. If he takes the helm of the government it may be the signal for the disappearance of Bao Dai from the Vietnamese political scene.

Buu Loc's resignation is said to be prompted by his feeling of inadequacy in the face of mounting internal problems of the country. Should Diem become premier, he is almost sure to choose ministers who have had no extensive contacts with the French and owe nothing to them.

The new government will be working desperately against time. Observers give it barely more than three months at most to consolidate the disparate political and religious groups as well as build up the young national army. By October, if not sooner, the victorious divisions of Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap are almost sure to unleash their long awaited mass attack on the Red River delta.

The guerrilla war in the delta continued today. French planes unloaded 50 tons of bombs on infiltrated Vietminh only a few miles northeast of Hanoi, a French army spokesman said.

French Union patrols reported killing 13 and capturing 13 rebels yesterday and last night in minor mopups.

Five-Year Plan To Make Koreans Self-Supporting Advocated In UN

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., June 15 (AP)—The U.N. published Sunday a new five-year plan to make South Korea self-supporting by 1958 at a cost of $1,330,000,000, including $1,240,000,000 in United States and U.N. aid.

The plan was given in a 488-page report critical, in part, of President Syngman Rhee's administration. It was laid out for the fiscal years between April 1, 1953, and March 31, 1958. It called for a 1958-59 gross national output 42 per cent above 1949-50, in the time of the Communist invasion, and 81 per cent above 1952-53.

The report came from the Robert R. Nathan Associates, Inc., Washington consulting economists whose president was a long-time New Deal brain trust. It was prepared for the U.N. Korean Reconstruction Agency (UNKRA), which paid the firm $125,000 for a year's economic survey. It was offered as the groundwork for joint U.N.-Korean government planning.

Normal Military Force
UNKRA made it public here, in Geneva, and in Seoul where it has headquarters. The agent general, American Lt. Gen. John B. Coulter (ret) said this did not necessarily mean UNKRA accepted all the recommendations, though he termed the statistical data useful.

The report assumed that the 1950-53 Korean War would not be renewed and the Republic of Korea would aim at a "normal" military force of 200,000 such as she could support herself.

President Rhee told South Korean farmers yesterday, "we must be ready to die in the northward march to unify our country." Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said in the Senate April 14 South Korea had 600,000 troops. Other sources have estimated the combat force at 640,000 plus service troops. The United States helps support them.

The Nathan report, without mentioning Rhee personally, recommended "sweeping changes and improvements" in government policies, particularly in "the efficiency and integrity of Korean public administration."

It said officials' salaries were too low and that "indirect supplementation of income...has virtually been institutionalized in Korean government circles." It declared that the government tolerated inflation and black markets, largely dominated labor organization and was inefficient in running the bulk of Korean industry.

The report criticized South Korea's own $2,170,000,000 five-year plan on the ground that it would devote over half the spending to social welfare, as against a quarter in the Nathan plan. It said the government plan "would postpone far into the future the attainment of self-support."

Self-support is attainable, the report held, on a living standard low by Western criteria but higher than in most Far Eastern countries. It paid tribute to "the courage, vigor and determination" of the Koreans. It foresaw that South Korea's population would rise from 22,000,000 to 24,300,000 in the five years, and set out these goals for 1958-59, compared with 1949-50:

Build More Homes
1. Output of agriculture up 35 per cent, mining 455 per cent, manufacturing and construction 85 per cent and electric power some 300 per cent. Yearly gross national product up 34 per cent to $2,510,000,000.

2. Consumption of food up 14 per cent and textiles 28 per cent, with each inhabitant consuming $73.50 worth of everything, or $2.70 more yearly.

3. More barley, sweet potatoes and soybeans and less rice in the South Korean diet, with rice making up 45 per cent of all exports.

4. Building of 300,000 homes. Repair of schools, hospitals and waterworks.

5. Less government in business. More encouragement of private enterprise. Fewer direct price and wage controls. Fairer taxation. Tax collections to rise from 16 to 20 per cent of gross national product. A balanced budget. Free trade unions.

6. A "Single realistic" exchange rate for the Korean won, now 60 to the dollar in some transactions, 180 in others.

7. Exports up 800 per cent to enable South Korea to pay her own way, with need for outside aid dwindling from $350 million this year to nothing in 1958-59.

8. More trade with Japan, former enemy and overlord, which the report termed "Korea's logical trading partner."

The report, dated last Feb. 4, said that of the outside aid needed, $358 million already had been appropriated by the U.S. Congress

Subway Blaze Touches Off Brief, Dangerous Panic

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—A minor fire touched off a brief but dangerous panic today in a rush hour subway train jammed with 1,400 passengers. About 25 persons were treated for minor injuries or smoke poisoning.

The Lexington avenue IRT train of seven cars stalled near the 86th Street station. It was southbound from Upper Manhattan and the Bronx, when fire broke out at 8:01 a.m.

"There was yelling and screaming," said Transit Patrolman Andrew Kenders.

Windows were broken as frightened passengers fled the train.

About a score climbed up a ventilator shaft but were trapped by a sidewalk grating.

Truman Petrillo Perform In Duet

MILWAUKEE, June 15 (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman and James C. Petrillo, president of the AFL American Federation of Musicians, played a piano-trumpet duet today before 2,000 delegates and guests at the AFM's national convention.

Mr. Truman sounded a few chords, then played "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." Petrillo, playing a golden trumpet, contributed a wailing melody to Mr. Truman's piano accompaniment.

Thunderous applause greeted their efforts and they responded by repeating the selection, partly for the benefit of a large assemblage of newsreel photographers.

Petrillo quipped that "we want to show you why we don't want any more canned music in the United States." Mr. Truman chuckled at this. Then the former President played Padewski's "Minuet in G."

Mr. Truman used a specially built concert grand piano, the AFM's gift to the Truman memorial library at Independence, Mo. The stunt was a preliminary to a convention address by the ex-President.

GROW A LAWN LIKE THIS IN 7 DAYS!

Make This 7 Day Test on Your Lawn! See for yourself how fast-acting RX-15 can turn your sick-looking grass into a rich carpet of lawn. Dissolve 1 tablespoon of RX-15 in a gallon of water and write the letters of your name right on your lawn. It takes only 60 seconds... yet in 7 days from today you'll see that RX-15 treated lawn growing so much thicker, greener, faster than your untreated section, you'll actually be able to read your name in the grass. And if you don't get these amazing results, simply send back the unused portion of RX-15 and get back every penny you paid for it.

SCIENTISTS' FORMULA SHOOTS FANTASTIC GROWING POWER INTO LAWNS, PLANTS AND VEGETABLES INSTANTLY!
Now Grow Flowers, Shrubs, Trees In Virtually Any Soil—Even Sand.
Watch "Dying" Lawns Grow Richer, Thicker, Greener In 7 Days!
YOUR CHANCE TO TRY RX-15 WITHOUT RISKING A PENNY!

This season how would you like to make your flowers bloom by the thousands weeks ahead of your neighbors—double the growing power of undernourished shrubs, trees, hedges, vegetables? Grow a richer, thicker, greener lawn in just 7 days with just 1 sprinkle from a watering pail? Then read this article!

It tells how now, YOU who may know next-to-nothing about gardening can turn your garden into the show-place of the community with thousands of colorful, flaming blossoms—not five years from now—not next year—but this season even if right now you don't have a seed in the ground—even if your soil is undernourished.

How with normal garden care YOU can pick basketful of meat-packed garden fresh tomatoes, luscious heads of lettuce—sweet, tender cucumbers, corn and peas from a vegetable patch right in your own backyard. How YOU can amaze the so-called experts in your neighborhood with a rich, thick carpet of lawn—and you won't even have to dirty your hands digging messy, evil-smelling manures into the soil.

"Why Won't Flowers Grow In My Backyard?"

If flowers won't grow for you—no matter how hard you try—in case after case it's been proven that your soil is to blame. Science tells us that almost 90% of all garden soils are deficient in at least one of the 10 vital minerals a plant needs to bloom and flourish. And if you starve a plant of even one of these life-giving soil minerals you won't get many

Sprinkle With RX-15 Save Hours of Extra Digging!

Finally in 1951 scientists at one of America's leading plant experiment stations tested new types of concentrated plant foods that could be dissolved in ordinary tap water, and when sprinkled on lawns or plants could go to work in minutes. No more extra drudgery, no more manure digging. This water soluble plant food was proven so fast-acting that it is absorbed by roots and reaches into every leaf, stem and tissue in 60 minutes.

Thousands of Flowers For Only a Few Minutes Extra Work!

And now do you realize what RX-15 means to you? It means that today you can go out with a sprinkling can and in a few minutes start to shoot new life into your garden. Revitalize your whole undernourished lawn... give it results you never dreamed possible in 7 days.

It means that, whether you're an expert gardener or the greenest beginner now with normal garden care you can grow masses of beautiful roses, dahlias, phlox, gladiolus and chrysanthemums in your garden this season with a sprinkling of RX-15 once or twice a month. It means that no matter how starved your soil may be now, with a few sprinkles of RX-15 you can grow a thick, green lawn the very first time you try—and it will only cost you pennies to apply it! It means that you can grow hundreds of flowers in your window boxes—grow thousands of flowers this season from plants you already have in your garden, from seeds you can still put in the ground.

And because RX-15 instantly feeds plants all the life-giving soil minerals they need for healthy bloom, it means that merely sprinkling with RX-15 can make starved, undernourished lawns, trees, shrubs, houseplants start to spring back to new life instantly!

It means that very possibly you may still pick basket after basket of plump fruits from trees, that stopped producing years ago. You'll be amazed at the way scraggly plants, seedlings, shrubs, bulbs and trees start shooting out new buds, stems, branches—the way they produce thicker, greener, bigger leaves and flowers even in the most mineral-starved soil, when you sprinkle them with a spoonful of RX-15 dissolved in water... and it goes to work instantly!

MAKE THIS COMPARISON TEST ON YOUR FLOWERS!
Look at these two groups of young calla plants. Both were potted the same day, in the same soil and grew side by side under identical growing conditions. ## Reversed Roles Are Evident In State Democratic Primary

(EDITORS: This is the first in a series of reports on the Maryland primary election campaign. Today's report deals with the Southern Maryland picture.)

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

ANNAPOLIS, June 15 (AP)—Political smoke signals rising from the heart of Southern Maryland's tobacco land tell a curious story of reversed roles in the Democratic primary for governor.

One part of the story follows the pattern observed in most other sections of the state—George P. Mahoney bucking what he calls "the bosses." H. C. Byrd, his opponent, has attracted the dominant party organizations in Anne Arundel, Howard, Prince Georges, Charles and Calvert Counties.

St. Mary's Backs Mahoney

But in St. Mary's, a county which has treated Mahoney well in past battles, an entrenched organization again has lined up behind the paving contractor from up North.

Serving as a backdrop for the gubernatorial races are lively fights for the Court of Appeals seat now held by Judge Hall Hammond and the nomination in the Fifth Congressional District.

Circuit Judge Charles C. Marbury is challenging Hammond's bid to retain the appellate judgeship, and his supporters have met significant opposition only in Anne Arundel County. They could pull through there, too.

Locked in a three-way struggle for the congressional nomination are Richard E. Lankford, Annapolis lawyer and General Assembly delegate; Walter L. Green, who ran third to Lankford in the 1952 primary, and Paul Menk, a newcomer to this phase of politics after six years of staff work from congressional committees.

Headed By Dorsey

The St. Mary's organization backing Mahoney is headed by Philip H. Dorsey, his running mate for attorney general. Byrd is tackling the odds in St. Mary's but he has an active group at work, led by former Del. Oliver Guyther.

In Howard it's just the reverse. That's the bailiwick of State Sen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, Byrd's entry for attorney general. And in Howard, Mahoney is represented by a determined group of well known Democrats. Raymond Pickett, veteran register of wills, and C. Orman Manahan, a General Assembly delegate now running for state's attorney are among them.

With an organization on hand to muster votes in a primary, Byrd is strong in his adopted county of Prince Georges. The gears meshed by former Rep. Lansdale G. Sasseer, T. Howard Duckett and ex-State Sen. L. Howard Sothoron grind for Byrd there. Mahoney must rely on anti-organization sentiment but opposition to Sasseer and company isn't always synonymous with dislike of Byrd.

William J. Millar Jr., an attorney, is a mainspring of Mahoney's Prince Georges campaign.

The Baltimore County businessman has established groups behind his uphill struggle in Charles as well as Howard. James Burroughs and Reed McDonagh are chief Mahoney spokesmen in Charles. They claim immense progress, but the central committee headed by James W. Willis in a county where Sasseer influence is keen has beaten Mahoney before and feels it can repeat with Byrd topping the ticket.

In Anne Arundel an uproarious campaign for county control finds bare-knuckled factions headed by State Sen. Louis N. Phipps and former State Sen. Wilbur R. Dulin both for Byrd. In Calvert, so often involved in political ruction, the jousting is so gentle that all the folks talk about is what the dry weeds is doing to the tobacco crop. From all appearances, Byrd has it sewed up.

Such veterans as State Sen. Louis L. Goldstein of Calvert say the friends Byrd made as president of the University of Maryland will shoo him in. Dorsey, McDonagh, Pickett and other Mahoney rosters say candidate is better known than before and a popular campaigner with an increasingly effective organization.

In some areas, Charles and Calvert excluded, election interest generates from county feuding into what otherwise might be a lackluster contest on top. And in many places the three-way fight for the fifth District Congressional nomination spreads across lines in the Mahoney-Byrd duel.

Republicans Are Joyriding
On the Republican side, Gov. McKeldin and Rep. Frank Small Jr. are joyriding in the same counties. Even in Howard, the home of Pedro A. Del Valle, another State-house aspirant, McKeldin appears in good shape.

In Small's case the same applies to Prince Georges. Both he and Robert E. Ennis, his only GOP rival, are residents of suburban Washington.

An anti-organization group without much feeling for McKeldin is working hard for local influence in St. Mary's County. One of its spokesmen, Roscoe Thompson, believes its efforts possibly have been aided by charges broadcast last fall on conditions in the county by Fulton Lewis Jr., the radio commentator.

But Thompson adds the rebellious group was formed several years ago. And Joseph D. Weiner, an organization leader and one of those criticized by Lewis—along with McKeldin, maintains his side will win by a 7-3 majority.

Almost all St. Mary's candidates think there's a chance the Lewis charges, which led to grand jury action against him and his targets, may have some effect. But, Republicans and Democrats, alike, they say it will be on the other fellow.

Work On Bypass At Frederick To Begin Today

BALTIMORE, June 15 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin will mount another steam shovel tomorrow to launch work on the Frederick By-pass.

The ceremonies will be on Cemetery Road in Frederick, and the governor will turn the first earth there for a system of three bridges near the intersection of the by-pass and the Washington National Pike.

Frederick is the junction of four important inter-state highways and the by-pass is designed to relieve the congestion that develops when through-traffic mingles with the city's normal commercial traffic in the downtown area.

Ultimately, it will almost encircle the city from southeast to northeast, skirting it on the south and cutting through the west edge and northwest corner.

Almost 12 million dollars has been allocated for the projects in Maryland's long-range highway program. The major part of it, connecting U.S. 40 east and west of Frederick, is scheduled for completion in the first four years of the 12-year program and it has been designated as one of the first projects started in this initial phase.

U.S. 40 is to be completed as a dual highway all the way from Baltimore to the Monocacy River at the east edge of Frederick by late October, and the by-pass will start there.

From that point, the by-pass will swing south to intersect with:

1. The New Washington National Pike, an expressway being built between Frederick and Washington.
2. U.S. 15, which comes up from the South and is scheduled for rebuilding from the Potomac River at Point of Rocks into Frederick.
3. U.S. 340, which comes into Frederick from Harpers Ferry, W. Va., and Sandy Hook on the southwest.

Man Walks From Plane Crash, Later Has Fractured Skull

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., June 15 (AP)—Roy Shaffer of (78D Elizabeth Road) Hampton, Va., walked away from his light plane when it cracked up during a violent local thunderstorm here today but later was hospitalized with a possible skull fracture.

The plane was wrecked on a farm near Johnson's Mill, a small community about six miles south of here.

Paul Woods, a farmer living there, brought Shaffer to War Memorial Hospital here.

Shaffer was believed to be on the way from Newport News, Va., to Martinsburg, Pa., when he ran into the storm in his light monoplane.

The art of tempering glass was discovered during the reign of Roman Emperor Tiberius.

Unusual Happenings Become Usual Anymore

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—The unusual has become so usual that only the extraordinary could stir much attention last week.

People had a lot of odd escapades with autos. But—

In Copenhagen, a fellow figured he's had too much to drink to drive home safely. So he enlisted the aid of a passerby, gave him a quick course in auto-driving, and away they went. The car hit a lamp post, the fellow jumped out and climbed high in a tree. But the substitute driver was injured. He was a 4-year-old boy.

Many valuables were lost, none more valued than a purse containing more than $19,000 lost by a San Jose, Calif., nurse. Calmly she Hudson River in New York.

But the distinguished bovine of the week was Prince Domino III, a blue-blooded bull of Napa, Calif., who was acquitted of charges of willful misconduct in his affairs with 34 heifers in a neighboring field. The heifers' owner charged that the Prince, whom he characterized as a "wicked Lothario," did over a three-year period crash the fence and there "wound, worry and impregnate" the heifers. But a judge ruled maybe the heifers came over to the Prince's place.

He said, in short, it could as easily have been a case of vice versa.

Many persons displayed extraordinary patience, but none more than Bert Lewis, who has lived at the foot of a steep hill in Chippenham, England, for 40 years. In that time 19 cars have crashed through his garden wall and 19 times he has patiently rebuilt it. Last week the 20th car came through the wall. Bert patiently began rebuilding it.

Some of the impatient, as in every week, decided to trade this world for the next. None set about it as thoroughly as a chap in Los Angeles after his wife and three kids went home to her mother's.

He clamped an automatic pistol to an ironing board and ran 10 yards of gauze from the trigger to a mixer in the kitchen so that all seven shots would be pumped out. He suspended two heavy sashweights over his head with thread. He poured gasoline over the porch and rugs throughout the house.

Then he gulped a few sleeping pills, ignited the gasoline, turned on the kitchen stove gas jets, started the mixer, raced to the ironing board and held his head against the pistol. But—

The sashweights knocked his head out of the path of the bullet, which lodged in a lung. The gauze broke and only one shot was fired. This aroused a neighbor who rushed in and put out the fire and turned off the gas.

The chap's wife and three kids what was described as a private visit.

Organization Formed To Help Tourist Trade

Towler Officer In New State Group

ANNAPOLIS, June 15 (AP)—Maryland's travel interests voted today to incorporate into an organization called the Maryland Travel Council, Inc., to promote the tourist travel business in the state.

Some 60 representatives meeting in the Statehouse adopted a constitution and bylaws, then instructed President Paul McAuliffe of Frederick to file for incorporation.

The move came after the representatives voted down a short-lived bid against the organization being a self-sustaining one.

Several of those at the meeting suggested the group should be supported from State funds.

The organization name was adopted after rejection of an earlier idea for a state-wide contest to select a name.

Instead, a contest will be conducted to find a slogan. Winner of the competition will have the choice between a week's paid vacation for two at Ocean City, Deep Creek Lake in Garrett County or at a Chesapeake Bay hotel of his choice. The bay trip would include the week's use of a boat and fishing guide.

Second prize is an expense paid weekend stay in Baltimore, with tickets to a Baltimore Oriole baseball game. Ten lesser prizes will be included. Competition will be closed July 12, and the winners announced July 25.

Slogans should be mailed to the organization in Annapolis or to newspapers and radio stations participating in the contest.

At today's meeting, the temporary slate of officers and directors was named to serve until Jan. 1.

Harry Wainwright of Howard County was elevated from vice president to first vice president. Other vice presidents are Leonard E. Kolmer, Baltimore; Max Chambers, Caroline County; and J. L. Towler, Allegany County. Secretary is Meyer H. Bartlett, Prince Georges, and Leonard Engle, Baltimore, is treasurer.

Headquarters for the organization eventually will be located in Annapolis, with a paid managing director and his staff located here.

Democrats File New Candidate For House Seat

Charles Buskirk Seeks Election

A second Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates from Allegany County has been entered in the race by the Democratic State Central Committee for this county.

He is Charles O. Buskirk of Klondike. His certificate of nomination was signed by William L. Wilson, chairman, and Matthew J. Mullaney, secretary of the State Central Committee. The certificate states that Buskirk is presently unemployed.

Leslie J. Clark of Lonaconing filed his papers with the County Board of Election on April 19, which was the last day for a candidate to file for himself. However, until last Saturday it was still legal for the State Central Committee of either party to fill vacancies in the ticket. There are six county seats in the House of Delegates and the Democrats could have filed certificates for a full slate.

As it is Buskirk and Clark will compete in November against the six Republicans who are successful in getting nominations June 28. The GOP candidates are Irvin C. Alexander, Lonaconing; Harold B. Brooks, LaVale; Noel Speir Cook, Frostburg; Eldred A. Cromwell, this city; Fred B. Driscoll, this city; George R. Hughes Jr., this city; Robert Lee Jeffrey, Lonaconing; Estel C. ## Water Pours Over Lake Koon, Ban May Be Lifted Today

Water poured over the spillway at one of the city's lakes yesterday for the first time since July 28, 1953 and the ban on non-essential use of the supply is expected to be lifted in "a day or two."

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said water is an inch over the spillway in Lake Koon. In Lake Gordon, the level is one foot, 11 inches below the crest of the spillway.

Should the ban be lifted today it will mark the first time in over four months that the city has felt it has a "safe" supply. Co-operation during the period has resulted in substantial savings and

Meeting Is Scheduled Here Thursday By Regional Body

Traffic managers, industrialists, and railroad transportation officers will converge on Cumberland Thursday for a meeting of the Executive and Railroad Contact Committees of the Allegheny Regional Advisory Board. Sessions will open at 9:30 a.m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

F. W. Bennett, general traffic manager, Sharon Steel Corp., Sharon, Pa., will preside at the luncheon meeting at noon.

J. F. Davis, traffic manager, Babcock and Wilcox Tube Co., Beaver Falls, Pa., and general chairman of the board will have a part in the program.

Many To Attend

E. W. Coughlin, manager railroad relations, Car Service Division, Association of American Railroads, Washington, D. C., will discuss the "National Transportation Situation," at the luncheon.

Members of the board from the Pittsburgh area, Northern Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland will attend. A. W. Conley, Cumberland Division B&O, Joseph M. Miller, Western Maryland Railway Elkins Division superintendent, and other railroad officials from railroads in the territory will be here.

Shippers and carriers will look with particular interest at the forecast of carloadings for the third quarter of 1954 as an indication of business activity to come. It will be released at the luncheon.

The Allegheny Regional Advisory Board is one of 13 similar groups throughout the nation. A prime function of the board lies in bringing representatives of shippers and carriers together for discussion of mutual problems. Forecasts of the Shippers Advisory Board groups have proved very accurate over a number of years.

Arrangements for the get-together here were made by Anthony Saeki, manager, Chamber of Commerce; John L. Carnochan, freight agent for the Western Maryland and Pennsylvania Railroad; and drew N. Phillips, traffic manager Kelly-Springfield Tire Co.; Paul M. Mobus, chief clerk B&O freight office, and other Tri-State Traffic club members.

C. S. Catherman Jr., director, Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, will extend greetings to the visitors at the luncheon. Mayor Roy W. Eves will welcome the group.

Local businessmen, interested in transportation, may attend the Freight Loss and Damage, and L.C.L. committee meetings at 9:30 a.m. and also the luncheon.

There will be no afternoon or evening sessions but arrangements have been made for golf at the Cumberland Country Club. A tour of the plant of the Celanese Corporation has been arranged in the morning for visiting ladies. It will be followed by a lunch at the Shrine Country Club.

Liquor Board Returns Funds

The Board of License Commissioners for Allegany County yesterday announced that an unexpended sum totaling $3,888.88 from the board's budget for the year ending May 31 is being returned to the county.

The board had a budget of $19,500 for the year but estimates for several items in the budget were higher than needed. These include savings of $1,333.36 in board inspectors' salaries, $540 in attorney's fees, $455 for transcripts of hearings, $425 for printing and stationery, $500 for incidental inspector's expenses, $489.68 from the contingent fund, $135.54 from the pension fund, and $9.65 in phone expense.

The board also approved issuance of a 10-day beer, wine and liquor license to the Cumberland Fair Association for the racing meet which starts Wednesday, June 23. Applicants were Edgar Reynolds, Carl F. Schmutz and Frank W. Wolfhope, officers of the association.

It was pointed out that actually, the license will be good for only nine days as June 28 is primary election day and no liquor sales are permitted while the polls are open.

Because of the election day ban on alcoholic beverage sales, the Fair Association will be charged only $450 for the special license—$50 a day for nine days—instead of the usual $500.

W. Va. Women Attend Leadership School

Two women from Wiley Ford and another from Ridgeley attended the Fourth Leadership Training School of West Virginia Congress of Parents and Teachers held Friday through Sunday at Camp Caesar, near Webster Springs.

The Mineral County delegates were Mrs. Roy Fleming and Mrs. Michael Sirna, both of Wiley Ford, and Mrs. Leon Hammond of Ridgeley.

"Let's Think Together" was the general theme of the school. Mrs. Edward Menkemeller is president of the PTA Congress in West Virginia. Mrs. Delmas Miller was chairman of leadership. H. N. Kerr, professor of sociology at West Virginia University, served as special adviser to the school.

Amateur radio hobbyists in Virginia, using home-built equipment, succeeded not long ago in bouncing a recognizable code signal off the moon.

Woman Marine Recruiter Here

Staff Sgt. Patricia Browne, a recruiter for the Women's Marine Corps, will be at the local recruiting station today, tomorrow and Friday to interview young women interested in entering the women's branch of the corps.

Meanwhile, Sgt. William Barr, local recruiter, announced that five men have enlisted in the Marines and have been assigned to Parris Island, S. C. for basic training.

They are Frank P. Hymes, 513 Eastern Avenue, a former Air Force member who signed up for four years and who was given the rating of sergeant; Lester E. Stein, LaVale, George W. Wilson, and Gerould A. Grubbs, 351 South Main Street, Keyser, who enlisted for four years each, and Harold J. Zimmerman, Union City, Pa., who signed up for three years.

Sgt. Barr said all area high school graduates can still enlist for the group who will be sent to Baltimore on Monday to take physical and mental tests for enlistment in the Corps.

Railroad Police Agent Named

Bernard F. Beaky, Mt. Pleasant Road, has been promoted to special agent in charge for Western Maryland Railway at Cumberland. He replaces the late Horace Clark, who was killed when struck by a bolt of lightning at his farm near Spring Gap last week.

Beaky, former local athlete, has been on the Western Maryland police department for 14 years.

James H. Snyder, 921 Silbert Avenue, a member of the Cumberland Police Department for about eight years on the one a. m. to 9 a. m. platoon, resigned yesterday to accept a position as a patrolman on the railway police force here.

Snyder, a veteran of World War II, was a varsity football player at Fort Hill High School.

Air Raid Alert Successful In Lonaconing

LONACONING — The air raid alert here Monday night still left the town for the ten minute test period to noticeable silence.

At the Alvin C. Neat Post No. 5280, Veterans of Foreign Wars, where the annual children's carnival was having opening night, the band concert was in the midst of its music program and the children were enjoying the rides on the miniature trains, boats, swings, ferris wheel and ponies, when the siren sounded.

VFW post members efficiently ushered the approximately five hundred children and parents into the basement of the stone VFW building until the all clear was sounded.

This evening, a special dance will be held at VFW home with music by Leon Green and Bill Patton. Families are welcomed to attend the VFW festivities.

A special matinee will be held on Saturday beginning at 1 p. m. for the children to enjoy the afternoon fun on the variety of rides. Bill Barnard's orchestra will provide the music for dancing on Saturday night in the VFW home.

Cash prizes will be given to the top winners of the "Parade on Wheels" on Thursday. The parade will begin at 6 p. m. in the vicinity of the VFW home, with the prizes awarded on the VFW grounds at the end of the parade and judging.

It is planned to have the Lonaconing City Band in uniform on Friday evening to play an appropriate program. The 372nd Military Police Escort Guard company, U. S. Army Reserves, will execute drills and stand retreat at 7:30 p. m. at the VFW home.

The Central school playground fund will receive a fifty-dollar donation from the proceeds realized from this year's children's carnival.

Paul J. Davis Is Successor

KEYSER — Announcement was made Tuesday at the National Bank of Keyser that Joseph E. Patchett has retired as president and chairman of the board of directors of that institution, and that Paul J. Davis was named to succeed him as president and Dr. E. V. Romig, as chairman of the board. The resignation was tendered at the board meeting held a few days before.

Patchett has been associated with the National Bank since its organization on November 13, 1933, having served as president and chairman of its board for more than 20 years. He came to Keyser in 1903, organizing and operating the Patchett Woolen Mill in the structure now occupied by Pryne and Company. Following World War I, he disposed of his woolen mill business. Since 1933 he has devoted his entire time and interests to the bank which has grown to be an institution with resources of over $3,000,000.

Davis has also been associated with the bank since its organization, first in the capacity of assistant cashier and in 1935, was named cashier. In 1948, he became executive vice-president.

He was the first full time athletic coach at West Virginia Preparatory School, now Potomac State College, having received his appointment following military service in France during World War I. He has served as deputy collector of Internal Revenue, was auditor of public accounts for the state of West Virginia and was postmaster of Keyser from 1927 to 1933.

The election of Davis as president of the National Bank creates an unusual family distinction, as his late brother, George R. Davis, served as president and cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank here until his death. Two brothers thereby had the distinction of seeing their banks grow into leading financial institutions.

Dr. Romig likewise has been associated with the National Bank since its organization in the capacity of director and vice-president. He is also the founder and operator of the Romig Drug Company, here, which has been in operation for more than 50 years.

Here's A Shave Worth $7,000

KEYSER—Raymond L. Murray, a member of Keyser City Council, one of the active workers for a swimming pool in Keyser, announced, after plans had been made to make a canvass for donations to raise funds to complete the fund, that he would not shave until the money is raised. Now, with the fund having reached a sum of more than $2,500 of $7,000 sought, Murray is wearing a beautiful hair trimming on his cheeks, chin neck, and, of course, his upper lip.

The beard is a rich dark brown that the councilman says he is very proud of, and at yesterday's council meeting, his co-workers in the city body, congratulated him upon the appearance of his prized hair trimming.

Ministers Present 29 Bibles To Valley High

LONACONING — The Lonaconing Ministerium has donated 29 Holy Bibles for use at Valley High School.

"Your donation is just another symbol of the relationship between the school and the church. We sincerely agree that the Holy Word should be available to all youth at all times to give inspiration and moral guidance."

Mt. Savage Homemakers Give Unique Performance

MT. SAVAGE — The Mt. Savage Homemakers Club performed before a full house last Thursday evening when a Nickelodeon and Vaudeville show was presented in St. George's Hall. The curtain opened upon the front of a theatre of the early 1900's with Mrs. Belva Miller in the ticket booth. Attired in costume of that era the following purchased tickets to view the silent film "The Hero" starring Ben Turpin and the early talkie movie: Mrs. Cecelia Albright, Miss Gertrude Haus, Mrs. Margaret Haus, Mrs. Bernadette Deffenbaugh and three children Mary Jane, Patsey, and Marie, Mrs. Loretta Haus, Danna Huff, Mrs. Myrtle Sleeman, Dee Yutzky, Mrs. Marie C. Diehl, Mrs. Beatrice Huff, Mrs. Lillian Williams, Mrs. Margaret Wade, and Mrs. Elizabeth Aldridge.

Advertisements of current and coming attractions were enlivened with faces of Mrs. Sarah Carter as Fatty Arbuckle, Mrs. DeNoma Yutzky as Clara Bow, Mrs. Nellie Hotchkiss as Rudolph Valentino, and Mrs. Faye Benna as Theda Barre.

Miss Gertrude Haus played the piano during the silent film, Mrs. Cecelia Albright sang "Down by the Old Mill Stream" between the silent and talkie movie, Miss Lola Lewis accompanied her at the piano. Miss Dee Yutzky acted as Page, holding up placards announcing the following acts of the Vaudeville which opened with a bang as "Miss Annie Oakie, sharpshooter portrayed by Mrs. Mary Deffenbaugh showed a few gun tricks."

The Barber Shop Quartette under the direction of Mrs. Margaret Haus brought forth beautiful melody with songs of yesterday, "Dearie" "You Are My Sunshine" and "After The Ball." Mrs. Beatrice Huff, Mrs. Margaret Wade, Mrs. Mae Diehl and Mrs. Sarah Carter made up the singing foursome. Mrs. Gertrude Reagan who acted as "Houdini" the world's famous magician performed the wonderful rope trick. Mrs. Beatrice Huff and Mrs. Nancy Aldridge were the snake charmers. ## Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 15 (INS) — My girl friend, Jane Wyman, goes back to Paramount on loanout from Jack Warner. She was on her way there today to discuss "Lucy Gallant" when I talked with her.

John Lee Mahin is writing the script and so far my adopted daughter doesn't know who's playing opposite her. Maybe I'll find out and tell her. I can now tell Miss Wyman "Lucy Gallant" starts in September.

Jane is much in demand at all of the studios because she has never yet turned in anything but a top performance. In fact, when she's playing in a picture she lives the character she is portraying.

Right today Vivien Leigh is discussing playing Potiphar's wife in "Joseph and His Brethren." From London I get word that Max Aron is there on a mission from Harry Cohn to discuss the role with Vivien. I had thought she might not want to come to the USA again without Sir Laurence Olivier, but I hear tell that Larry has himself been offered a very goodly sum to play Potiphar. Vivien has read the script and reports are that she likes it.

Arlene Dahl telephoned to say that her father came down from Santa Paula to her engagement party to Fernando Lamas.

"We are now officially engaged," said Arlene, "and I chose the all-diamond ring instead of the diamonds and rubies. We are not going to let anyone know where or when we'll be married, but it will be soon after I finish 'Woman's World' at 20th Century-Fox. Oh, I don't mean next week when the picture ends, but sometime in less than a month."

I had heard they were going to Wyoming where Robert Taylor and Ursula Thiess were married, but Arlene wouldn't tell me. She just says they are going to another state for the ceremony.

Linda Darnell planes out tonight for Caracas, Venezuela, and Bogota, Colombia. Linda goes from Bogota to Rome to star in "Forbidden Women" for Giuseppe Amato, Italian producer-director.

Amato has long been attentive to the beautiful Linda, both as a director and a friend.

It's whispered that Philip Liebmann, brewery chief who has been mentioned as possibly becoming Linda's next husband, is financing the Italian picture. That's the kind of friend to have — tall, good looking and rich!

A heartwarming moment launched Gary Crosby on Bing's radio show for the summer.

Sitting in the sponsor's booth during Gary's debut were Bing's mother and Georgia Hardwicke, who has had the Crosby boys in charge practically since they were born.

As soon as the broadcast was over, Gary went immediately to his grandmother who made the onlookers eyes misty when she threw her arms about him and cried, "you are wonderful, just wonderful. Just like your daddy!"

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Betty Hutton will make the first NBC color TV show this fall. That was the reason for her big party at the Los Felix Brown Derby honoring Max Liebman.

The tall, blonde girl Bing Crosby took to Dean Martin's birthday party was Ethel Ute, a dancer at Paramount. He danced every dance with her. Jerry Lewis and Patti were very much present, and apparently the Martin and Lewis team will continue.

Tomorrow is Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond's 17th wedding anniversary. How well I remember coveting their wedding and smuggling in a typewriter, aided by one Miss Manners.

The Les Baxter's adopted a baby boy five months ago. Now they are expecting one of their own. Les is the well-known orchestra leader, and she is the daughter of

Court Puts Back Date For Debate On Segregation

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP)—The Supreme Court has decided to defer the time for hearing further arguments in the public school racial segregation cases.

First plans called for a one-day argument session next Oct. 12, but the court decided to cancel this arrangement. Instead, it will set a later argument date sometime after the court reconvenes Oct. 4 to begin its new fall term.

The question to be argued is how to carry out the court's May 17 ruling that school segregation violates the Constitution. The ruling was in cases specifically affecting Virginia, South Carolina, Delaware, Kansas and the District of Columbia.

Attorneys general of the states, counsel for the District of Columbia and U. S. Atty. Gen. Brownell have been asked to file briefs by Oct. 1 telling what has been done, or what is proposed to be done, to end school segregation. Attorneys general of other states which permitted or required segregation also have been invited to appear as "friends of the court" and to file briefs. This court request stands unchanged.

A bath is a beauty treatment, so make it leisurely and enjoy its relaxing effect.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

In these days when a hot bath is simply a matter of turning a faucet, it's hard to realize that the bath during many periods in history was a special occasion.

During the Dark Ages, people also turned dark with grime! In Medieval times, castles had big oval wooden tubs, and a bucket brigade to fill them. The Crusaders who went to the East returned with the idea of the Oriental vapor bath — but the lack of a sufficient water supply kept it a luxury.

Praise be to such modern servants as the automatic gas water heater that assures hot water in the right amount and at the right temperature! For there's nothing so relaxing, so reviving to the spirits as the good old hot bath.

Anti-Fatigue Treatment

You never know when nervous fatigue is going to make you feel like lead, when unaccustomed exercise will make your muscles stiff and sore. The quickest, surest antidote in such emergencies is a bath. Not a quickie, but a soak that's remedial in its very lack of time limit.

Have the bath water as hot as you can stand, and drink a glass of cold water before jumping into the tub. This induces perspiration, thus rids the system of poisonous wastes. Soak for 10 or 15 minutes before soaping yourself, then soap slowly. You'll feel your muscles unknicking and your mind letting go of its tight little worries.

To prolong the luxury of the tub treatment, replenish the hot water by letting the faucet run once or twice. After the tubbing, rub dry

Bids For Modernizing Old Filter Units At Lake Gordon Exceed Available Funds

A modernization program for 12 old filter units at Lake Gordon appeared stymied yesterday as three contracting bids submitted to the Mayor and Council far exceeded estimates for the project.

Three local firms, George Construction Company, Cumberland Construction Company and George F. Hazelwood Company, submitted bids at a legislative session of council yesterday morning.

Apparent low bidder was Hazelwood with $298,830. George submitted a total bid of $305,116; and Cumberland Construction $309,590. These figures are subject to change, council explained, pending audit of unit figures submitted by the firms.

Appear Stymied
Council decided to withhold any official announcement as to the low bidder until all prices could be audited and tabulated.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards said after the session that "it looks like we're stymied."

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson stated the bids mean the city will need approximately $90,000 to $100,000 more than is available. Because of that, it appears all three will be rejected.

Gibson said about $243,000 has been appropriated in the bond fund for the work from which the Council has pledged engineering fees for a survey for additional water storage. This amounts to almost $25,000 but is not payable at one time.

That leaves $218,000 for the proposed filter work at Gordon.

Engineering Not Included

The figure does not include money needed for supervisory engineering and engineering inspection by the city, the city auditor added.

The bids were referred to City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and Gibson for auditing and tabulation. Gibson said yesterday afternoon a tabulation of bids showed that Hazelwood was the low bidder.

Old filters at Lake Gordon were constructed in 1911. Also to be modernized are wash water facilities; construction of two up-flow contact basins of reinforced concrete with a control chamber; alterations to the existing structure, housing of the modernized area, mechanical equipment, valves, piping, electrical work and other incidentals.

First Part Completed

First part of the improvement program was completed last year at a cost of approximately $310,000 and included six new filters with a capacity of 6,000,000 gallons and housing facilities. The plant's clearwell which failed when work got underway was renovated and partial modernization of the chemical house included.

When the old filters are modernized, the city will have a plant capable of filtering 18,000,000 gallons of water a day and over 22,000,000 during peak loads. City usage has been averaging over 12,000,000 daily.

Belfoure Given Pool License

The Mayor and Council has granted William Belfoure permission to open a pool room-lunchroom at 20 North Mechanic Street.

Action was taken at the legislative session yesterday morning following recommendation by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Belfoure had appeared Monday asking action on his application which was filed June 1. Long at that time said he was not ready to act and had received the first report on the application last Thursday.

Law provides that an application must be answered within 15 days and Long promised a report yesterday morning.

The commissioner, without elaborating on his statement, said he had discussed the matter with Belfoure and received his commission as a second lieutenant at recent ceremonies in Atlanta, Ga.

Long said he had reminded Belfoure that the owner of the property can be held liable (for any law violations).

The Laborites Bite On The Red Hook

British Labor party, which gave no assistance to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at Geneva, is continuing to do its best to inflict as much damage as possible on British foreign policy. But the decision of the top Laborites to accept an invitation of the Red Chinese government to make a pilgrimage to Peking this summer goes farther than anything this party has come up with in the past. It is—as it is, no doubt, intended to be—a blow to the entire free world.

Timing of the announcement left no doubt that it was calculated. France, for example, has been attempting to regain the morale which was dashed when the garrison at Dien Bien Phu was lost. The cozying up by one section of the British government—more than 45 per cent of the members of the British Parliament are members of the Labor party—to a regime directly responsible for the terrible French losses makes a mockery of the Entente Cordiale, the 50-year-old French-British treaty, which was being toasted by both governments even as the Laborite announcement was made.

The fact that former Prime Minister Clement Attlee has accepted the Peking bid does little or nothing to help ease tensions which have arisen between Britain and the United States on foreign policy. Americans could have expected some such action from Aneurin Bevan, who will lead the delegation. But that a former prime minister was the ring leader makes it all the more humiliating from Eden's point of view.

The Laborites appear to have short memories, as well as a bad sense of timing. It will be recalled that, four years ago this month, the Laborite government of Great Britain, headed by Attlee, proposed an exchange of ambassadors with Peking. To this day the Red Chinese government has not replied to the British offer, nor has the Churchill government withdrawn it.

According to Bevan, his delegation is going 10,000 miles to sound out the "chances of friendly intercourse and fruitful cooperation." Neither the U. S. State Department nor the British Foreign Office is naive enough to believe this claptrap. The Red Chinese baited the hook in order to see how much they could further their tactics of dividing the United States and Britain. The Laborites are the not too unwilling fish who bit.

The Republican Split

For the first time since the Eisenhower administration appeared, Republicans are taking seriously the split in their party. Heretofore such wise men as William Rogers would say, "Where will they go?"—meaning that the conservative Republicans must vote for Republicans by force of habit even if they have lost confidence in their party.

Actually in a state like New Jersey, a stay-at-home movement is in the making which may reach large proportions, and in New York State, as a result of the activities of the Dewey clique in Washington, a third party movement has only failed to develop thus far because of the objection to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. as a candidate for governor. If such a figure as James A. Farley or Judge Charles W. Froessel were nominated by the Democrats, many Republicans would vote against Dewey or abstain from voting as a mark of protest.

The really politically-minded leaders of the Republican party realize what has happened to their party. The interjection of Clark Clifford in the effort to destroy Senator Joe McCarthy and the unbelievable attitude of the usually mild and even courtly Senator Stuart Symington, whose father-in-law, James Wadsworth, was a truly great Republican leader, has shocked Republicans, even those who had formerly opposed McCarthy. The feeling is that if the party is to survive, it must be a partisan party, if such a phrase may be used, not a conveyor belt for New Dealers and Trumanites who like to play both sides of the fence.

It is no secret that conversations along these lines have taken place and are taking place and that the next few weeks will witness a complete change in policy and activities. I prognosticate that Senator McCarthy will take an active part in the 1954 congressional campaign in many parts of the country during the summer and autumn months. I prognosticate that Senator Everett Dirksen will emerge as one of the more important leaders of the party. If Senator Karl Mundt is re-elected, as he undoubtedly will be, he will play a much greater role in party affairs than he had before the McCarthy-Stevens hearings started.

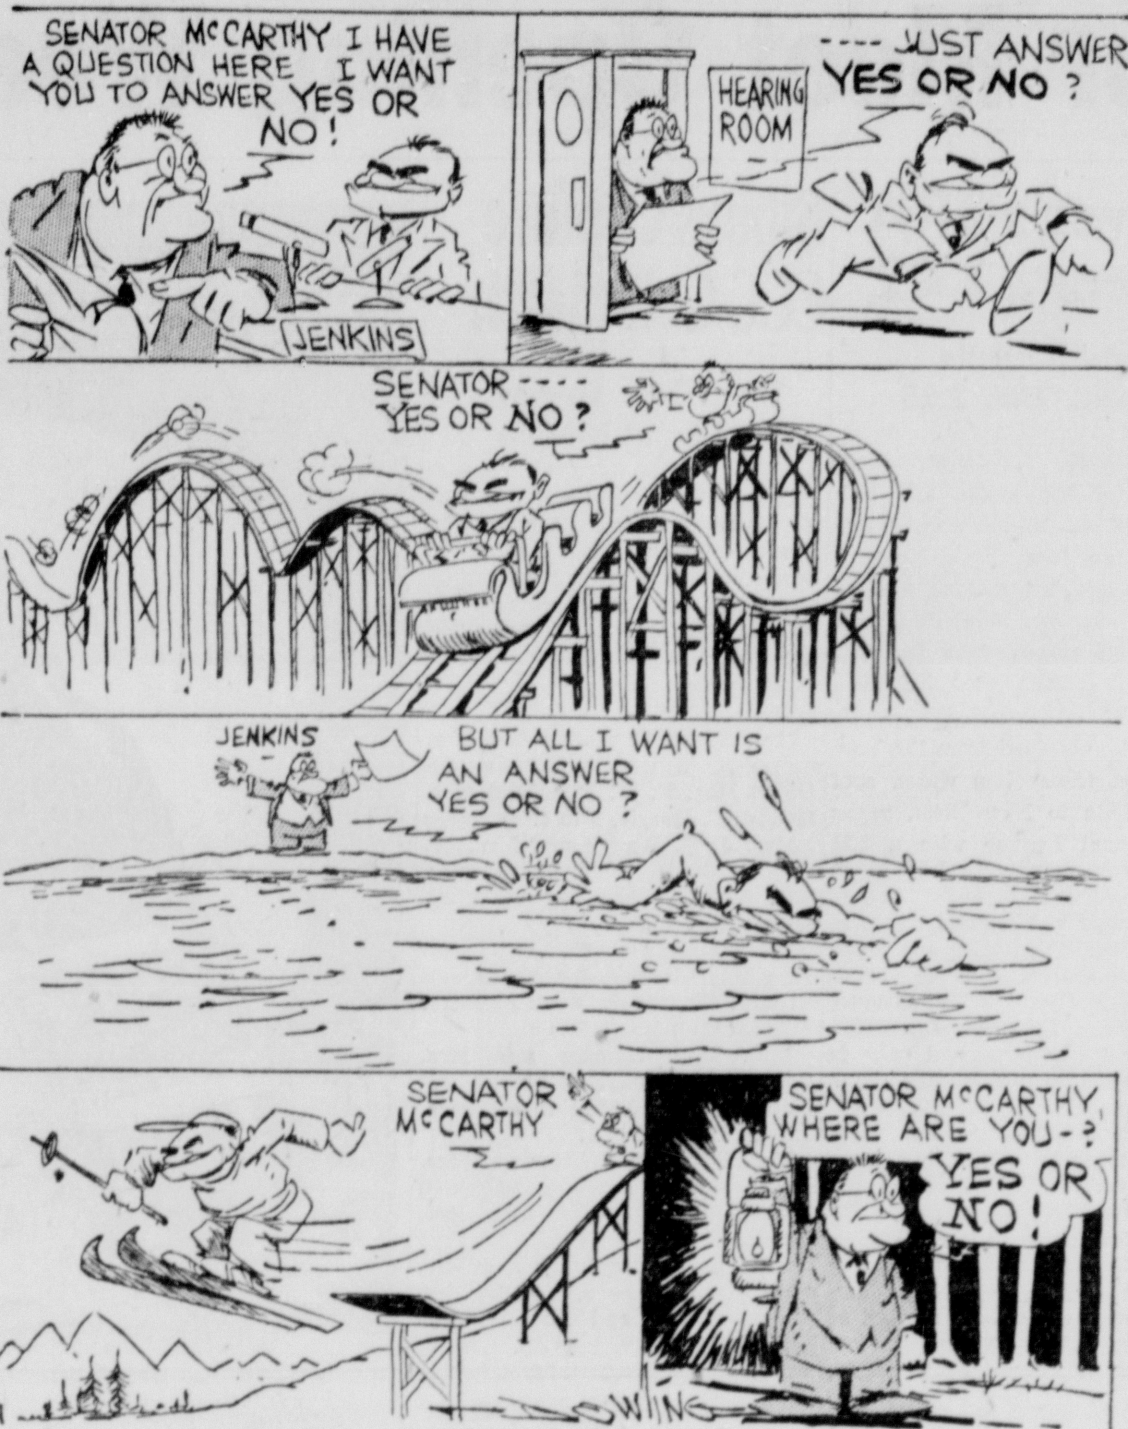

Vice President Richard Nixon has had an extraordinarily difficult role to play. In the past it had been assumed that he was part of the conservative wing of the party; yet he has been accepted as a member of the inner circle in the White House. He is expected to be the peace-maker in the party, but he has been a close friend of William Rogers, who is regarded by the conservatives as one of the architects of the effort to destroy McCarthy. Nixon is held in high affection by many of the Republicans who at this moment wonder at some of the things he is reported to have said during the past seven weeks. My estimate is that when the quarrels within the party simmer down, Vice President Nixon will be at peace with the several factions and that it will be recognized that he was in a difficult position and that his potentialities remain great.

Three Republican leaders will come out of this with less factional antagonism than most others. They are the chairman of the national committee, Leonard Hall, the postmaster general, Arthur Summerfield, and the attorney general, Herbert Brownell Jr. Brownell will face the factional quarrel over William Rogers, who, I am told, is a brilliant personality but who suffers from a tendency to put his fingers into too many pies, some of which are too hot to handle. All peace moves involve a lessening of factional quarrels and therefore there is less talk now than there was a fortnight ago about members of the White House staff, particularly about Sherman Adams. Certainly the monitored telephone calls established that Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens, did not participate in the politics of the action against McCarthy. If he stood up for his office, that was his obligation. It was not the duty of outsiders to use a difference of view which could have been settled amicably between Stevens and McCarthy as a political weapon to split the Republican party. At any rate, as of the moment, there seems to be no antagonism to Stevens.

This is the situation as I see it at this moment.

Just Answer Yes Or No

Reds Sit Tight As French Disintegration Runs Course

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—When a French cabinet falls in the midst of a serious international situation, there is a tendency in this country to assume that the whole government has collapsed and that all the machinery is paralyzed.

Actually, the change in the cabinet rarely affects the conduct of foreign policy. Thus, while there have been 17 cabinets in Paris since the close of World War II, there have been only two foreign ministers—Robert Schuman and Georges Bidault, the present incumbent.

While it is true that every incoming cabinet can direct or reverse a foreign policy, the French government has maintained on the whole a surprising continuity.

The selection of Pierre Mendes-France as premier would be regarded here as indicating not much change in foreign policy, though Edgar Faure, who is also mentioned, might take more direct steps to wind up the Indochina War.

U. S. Much Concerned
The American government wisely refrains from expressing itself on any such questions as personalities but is nevertheless much concerned about the kind of policy which a new French cabinet might authorize.

For all practical purposes, negotiations at Geneva have been held up until the French envoy there can get specific instructions. But the Geneva Conference was drifting along anyway without result, and the crisis in Paris does afford an opportunity for the conferees to do more talking, if they wish, about a possible compromise.

If the new cabinet wants to liquidate the Indochina war, it can do so through a surrender at Geneva. But, despite all the talk about "pulling out of Indochina," none of the leaders in the French Parliament has come forth with a formula for doing it that will not be worse than a continuance of the present stalemate. If general elections throughout France now are compelled, it could be that those deputies responsible for attempting to liquidate the Indochina War may find an aroused populace ready to punish them for their abdication of responsibility.

Sooner or later, all the facts about the recent negotiations between America and France will come to light and the French people will learn that, despite all the published reports about American unwillingness to help France in Indochina, there was no concrete result from the French government for American military intervention.

The reason, of course, was that, if America had been asked to intervene, the Washington government would have insisted on cooperation by other allies, and this would have meant an international-

Baering Down on The News

Question for a while was should the United States Army join the French Foreign Legion?

Paris followed our advice to make their parades smaller and their field forces larger.

Since the world took its first trial whirl, battles, wars and nations have been lost by mercenaries. It was Colonel Ingersoll who said nobody ever died in defense of a boarding house.

Two lines that even Bob Young doesn't want are the Long Island and the Maginot. And before looking into the Dien Bien Phu business we warn Paris there is no such thing as waterproof whitewash.

The score at Dien Bien Phu was one heroic nurse, six thousand natives, four thousand Germans and two thousand French. Looks like the French even outnumber themselves.

Paris is relying on Field Marshal

Monsoon and Premier Mud. If it rains next week Hanoi is as safe as corn in the bin.

The Foreign Legion isn't any more French than a Newark eggbeater. It might be time for Paris to scratch its own back. We are morose to state that Secretary Dulles massive retaliation shrank like a growing boy's pants.

England included itself out on Indochina as polite as a substitute butler. Churchill's alibi was stacked on coming decisions at Geneva. Winnie is as cautious as a traveling school ma'am.

He is also a bit economical on buttering the fiddler. He never crosses a bridge until he has paid the toll.

About time that Paris realized only a game fish swims upstream. What we call sauce alla Mississipp.

It has ordered total defense of the Indochina delta region at all costs. Which will be borrowed.

Prepare Your Youngster If He Must Be Hospitalized

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When your child is going to the hospital, tell him in a calm, matter of fact way what will happen on entering and what to expect. This is necessary because it may be too much of a shock for youngsters to find out these things by themselves. Dwell on the pleasant aspects of hospitalization such as the attention given by nurses and aids, the meals in bed, ice cream for dessert, afternoon snacks, and playmates in other beds.

When an operation is contemplated, tell the youngster that something is being fixed, not removed. It is also advisable to discuss crying; if he feels like weeping occasionally, this does not mean he is a crybaby. Such a buildup often makes the child feel more secure. After all, our children look to us for protection and when deposited in a strange place, many think they are being deserted and that the people "in white" may hurt them.

Youngsters who have an insight into what is going on make the best adjustment. They never should be told that illness or operations are punishments for naughtiness or disobedience. It is at this time that many mothers rue the remark, "You'll be sick, Johnny, if you don't do as mother says and wear your galoshes."

When the child enters the hospital there is no need to bring too many items. Take along his favorite pajamas, robe, slippers, comb, toothbrush and paste as well as a familiar toy. Leave something of your own such as a trinket, scarf, or old purse which will have psychological effect in creating a tangible tie with home and parents. The mother need not stay all night unless the child feels insecure.

Be prepared for a scene upon entering and leaving the room or ward. There is an encouraging aspect about wailing or screaming; it means the young one is strong enough to put up a battle. Furthermore, crying usually represents a method by which the small fry punishes his parents for leaving him.

If the youngster is depressed, never hesitate to talk about his state of mind. It is difficult to fool a tyke; don't tell him needles won't hurt or that medicine tastes like candy. Assure him the family is thinking about him and talk about what you are all going to do after he returns home. The pre-schooler has a tendency to revert to his early days on being hospitalized. A child who has not sucked his thumb for three years often begins again; others wet the bed or want to be fed like a baby. These regressions are temporary and need cause no concern.

TOMORROW: Nerve operation to help the circulation.

Scandal May Be Brewing In TV Grants By FCC; Investigation Is Underway

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — One development that contributed to the overwhelming defeat of the last Republican administration was the power scandals. A Senate investigation of the Federal Power Commission and big utility lobbying showed how powerful influences had been working to gobble up choice water and dam sites throughout the nation.

Public reaction to this steal not only contributed to Herbert Hoover's defeat but led to the government-owned dams and REA power system of Roosevelt's days.

Today a similar situation seems to be brewing inside another agency which also controls some of the most prized natural resources of the nation—the Federal Communications Commission.

Just as there are only a limited number of rivers and damsites which can be harnessed for electric power, so also there are only a limited number of wave lengths in the ether that can be harnessed for television. But the people who get there first and the people who get the most powerful wave lengths not only make a lot of money but help to control the thought, the political ideas, and the education of the United States.

Hence some of the most powerful lobbies in Washington have been built up around the Federal Communications Commission.

Simultaneously, the FCC has become one of the most subservient to big interests in Washington.

Secret Gravy

For instance, only a few weeks after the Eisenhower administration took office, the seven members of the FCC quietly and magnanimously handed out an eight per cent telephone rate increase to the telephone company without first even holding hearings. The public had no notice of the action. Consumers had no opportunity to testify. The FCC simply doled out the gravy, almost in secret, then announced it.

The telephont company, of course, is almost a complete monopoly. Another monopoly, Western Union, is now being permitted to close various offices all over the nation, with little supervision from the FCC.

However, the most scandalous lading out of gravy involves TV licenses.

Fortunately, some Republican senators have seen the danger, and a Senate committee headed by Senator Potter of Michigan is at work investigating—in contrast to the hush-hush policies of the Hoover administration.

Fortunately, also, some of the big TV owners realize that the public reaction to too much monopoly is bound to be government ownership, just as the reaction to the water power scandal of Hoover's day was government building of dams and government transmission of electricity. Some TV operators are farsighted enough to realize that too much monopoly might lead to a system similar to that in England—complete government control of broadcasting.

Republicans are also fortunate in that certain Democrats have profited immensely from the weak-kneed tactics of the wire-pulled FCC commissioners.

The Drop-Out Scandal

One of the worst FCC scandals is the lading out of TV licenses by what is called "drop-outs." This is a neat device whereby you can apply for a TV license at about 5 p. m. on a Tuesday evening, and get your license granted at 10 a. m. Wednesday.

You have to apply on a Tuesday night, because the commission meets Wednesday morning to hand out licenses. And if you apply before 5 p. m. Tuesday, a competitor is likely to hear what you are up to and thwart your game.

What happens is this. If two competitors are applying for a TV license in the same town there is a public hearing with the FCC hearing both sides. But if you buy your competitor out, or if you quietly combine, this is called a "drop-out," after which you can slip in before the FCC at 5 p. m. Tuesday and file a new application showing that there is no competition or a TV license in your city.

Then on Wednesday morning, the FCC will hand you a TV license which, if it's a "very high frequency" and a strong enough wave length, is a literal pot of gold.

The FCC gives no consideration as to what's good for the community or what kind of programming job you will do, or whether the license increases the communicating monopoly in that area. It just lades out the pot of gold.

And especially when TV licenses were unfrozen in July 1952, the lading was faster and more indiscriminate than ever. This was the period when Minority Leader Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas copped off the rich TV license for his wife in Austin. The Johnson family already had a profitable radio station, but now have an even more profitable TV station—which is something the Republicans are keeping up their sleeve in case the political counterattacking becomes too hot.

However, this is only one small part of one of the most amazing stories in America.

Fistfight Threatened

Two strapping GOP senators, who sit alongside each other on the Senate floor, almost got into a fistfight the other day. The contenders were Herman "Beefy Boy" Welker of Payette, Idaho, aged 47, and Ed "Easygoing" Thye of Northfield, Minn., aged 58.

The flareup ended with Welker storming into Senate Secretary Mark Trice's office and demanding that his seat be moved.

It isn't quite clear who started the beef. Welker came bustling into the Senate and noisily took his seat. Apparently Thye was trying to concentrate in the next seat and suggested that Welker pipe down.

"I am getting — tired of these pseudo-New Dealers," commented Welker loudly, obviously referring to Thye.

"You step outside, and I'll ram that down your throat," the farm-bred Minnesota bellowed.

At this point, other senators hushed them up, warning that the galleries might overhear them.

Welker then went roaring into Trice's office to get his seat changed away from Thye. However, Trice managed to soothe Welker's ruffled fur and talk him out of it.

Briefings On Bailing Out

By Bob Considine

MAXWELL AIR FORCE BASE, Ala.—(INS)—Occasionally I hear a non-flying soul say, "I'd climb right into one of them there DC-Constellations in a minute, if they'd put parachutes in them."

Maybe. But about 75 per cent of the regular air passengers of the country would climb out. I fly as much as the next fellow and more than many, but I think I'd walk or go by train if I had to wear a chute every time I flew, and be briefed in how to get out of a falling craft at a couple hundred and up to ten miles an hour.

It's a sobering lecture. Today's air traveler gets it only when and if he flies in a military plane. It in no way resembles the jolly briefing which over-water commercial fliers receive from their pretty stewardesses about how to do and inflate a mae west. In these seminars, there is always a laughing assurance at the end that this has been a waste of time and if you'll please sit still the cocktails will be served immediately.

Not so when Uncle Sam's fly-boys give you the word. Their general attitude as they strap you into the grotesque gear of the regulation chute is not that there is one chance in a million you may have use for the equipment but that there is every likelihood that you will indeed have urgent use for it.

"Keep an ear cocked to the intercom so we can let you know if anything goes wrong," the young lieutenant colonel said as he laced Bob Brown of Editor and Publisher and John Hohenberg of the Columbia University School of Journalism into our drop-seat corsets. (We were about to leave Newark in an Air Force B-25 for Maxwell to speak at the air war college.)

"Now you've got to have these straps tight," he went on, attaching what felt like a tourniquet to my right thigh. "Back here is the escape hatch. Pull this handle and the windstream will jettison the hatch. Go out this way" he bent over into embryo form and simulated a head-first roll-out. "Be sure to wait'll you clear the tail surface of the ship before you pull the rip-cord . . . yes, that's the rip cord on the left."

I don't recall ever appearing in the company of a less talkative group of newspapermen. Our colonel's parting words were, "name of next of kin, please."

It brought back a lot of memories of previous briefings. Before taking off from Offutt Air Force Base (Omaha) for New York last fall in a B-26, the fine young major said:

"When we have to get out I'll let the cowling go (I was riding in the co-pilot's place just ahead of the wing and within about two feet of the propeller) and you go out first. Watch the prop. Twist around in the air and make a shallow dive out on the wing. Don't try to crawl along it and fall off the trailing edge. If you do, the tail surface will get you as it comes by. Let the windstream blow you off and then duck. Don't pull it too soon. . ."

Well, sir, that was a nice, comfortable flight. When I reached New York I signed up at a Mutual of Omaha (plus) two-bit insurance machine to protect me on the automobile trip into town.

Then there was the time when a bunch of us were marched into a Nissen somewhere in the upper Assam Valley before a flight across "The Hump" to Kuming. It was a most extensive briefing on survival. It ranged all the way from what to do if forced to bail out on the airless heights of Shan-gri-La, to how to handle the denizens of the jungles en route. I recall especially the advice on how to out-wit boa-constrictors.

In the first place, the sober-sided briefing officer said, run. But not uphill or downhill, if pursued by a boa. Run sideways along a hill. Boas are inclined to roll over like an elongated Easter egg if forced to pursue an intended victim along the side of a hill. Also, he said reassuringly, boa-constrictors can be rendered harmless by nicotine. As his voice droned on in the hot shed I had a sudden vision of myself, arms pinned and entirely encased by a 38-foot boa, staring at my nose from a distance of one inch—and I couldn't get to my cigarettes to offer him one.

I must say, however, that the defenseless correspondents present that day won the duel with the military mind. As the lieutenant concluded his harrowing account with a description of how to get out of a burning plane, an elderly lady war correspondent glared at him and snapped, "but what about my valise?"

And as long as I've gone this far I might as well tell again about the time Bob Hope was asked—before taking off from an Eighth Air Force Base in England—"who you want notified in case of death?"

Hope thought a moment and then said: "Louella Parsons."

You're Telling Me!

An expedition which has been searching high and low (mostly high!) all over Mount Everest for the Abominable Snowman has called it quits. We would, too—in this kind of weather.

Speaking of weather, an Army doc has invented an electronic thermometer. We'll bet even it won't show temperatures to suit everybody.

200 Horses At Fairgo For Meet Opening Week From Today

Jimmy Baird, Donald Teague To Ride Here

Bettersea Box Preps For Manley; Nimble Lady Is Bell's Ace

With the thirtieth annual race meeting of the Cumberland Fair Association scheduled to get under way just one week from today, approximately 200 thoroughbreds are now bedded down with stall applications numbering 387.

Calvin Bowling, stall reservations representative of Racing Secretary J. Fred Colwill reports that only forty stalls remain to be allotted. Latest among the requests was from H. S. Mitchell, of Laurel, Md., who plans to van five horses to Fairgo, namely, Big Cloud, Speedy Bird, Busy Day, Zest and an unspecified two-year-old.

Likes Local Track

The partnership of J. J. Blithe and J. J. Gilmore, Philadelphia, have indicated that Battersea Box, 6-year-old gelding, has shown a liking to the local half mile track and is a probable starter in the Harry A. Manley Memorial, Saturday, June 26. Last October, the grandson of War Admiral ran second at Atlantic City while racing for $5,000.

Bobby Fitzgerald, Lancaster, Pa., pony boy here for two years, is scheduled to arrive today with eight head from Delaware Park. Fitzgerald will race his horses and resume his post as pony boy. Fire Fire and Idle Tale head Fitzgerald's consignment.

Jimmy Baird Arrives

Announcement was made by the local association yesterday that Jimmy Baird, top rider at Fairgo in 1950 while an apprentice, has arrived and expects to see plenty of action. Baird, who had 301 mounts in 1953 and turned in a 28-28-31 record, winning $35,387 in purses, did not ride at the local half miler the past three years after pacing the riding colony in 1950 with 7-10-6 and 71 points.

Donald Teague, riding sensation of the 1952 season, will also get mounts at the 1954 Fairgo meeting. Local fans will recall that Teague had 15 winners to Mike Sorrentino's 14 in 1952 but the latter won the gold wrist watch on a 5-3-1 basis by amassing 118 points to Donald's 114. Sorrentino's record was 14-12-12 and Teague's 15-10-9. Teague had the most mounts at the 1952 season, a total of 72, two more than the Bronx, N. Y. saddlesmith.

Apprentice Eddie Josephick, lightweight jockey, is slated to check in Sunday from Waterford Park, W. Va. Josephick, 24, hails from Trenton, N. J., and will ride for Harry Molinero. Josephick, incidentally, was aboard Grecian Maid, winner of the first race yesterday at Waterford.

J. M. P. Bell Returns

J. M. P. Bell, a regular at Fairgo since 1930, who was third in the trainer's race last year, has shipped in three horses, headed by the stakes performer, Nimble Lady, three-year-old filly and winner of four races last year. Trainer Bell posted a 4-5-1 record here last June. His overall mark for the year was 13 winners and $14,590 in purses won.

Stringtown Bows To Central Lunch

Central Quick Lunch defeated Stringtown in a County Softball League game yesterday at Stringtown by the score of 8-3.

JOINS REDLEGS — Karl Drews, Philadelphia Phillies pitcher, was sold to the Cincinnati Redlegs yesterday for an undisclosed amount of cash. The 31-year-old righthander has a 1-0 record this season.

Army Sergeant Runs 100 Dash In 9.7 Seconds

FT. DEVENS, Mass., June 15 (INS) — A 34-year-old sergeant from Brooks Medical Center at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas, today featured the All-Army Track and Field Meet with a dazzling 9.7 seconds 100 yard dash victory on a soggy track.

The surprising victory of Sgt. 1/C Alex Litman, who never went to college and has been in the Army since he was 19 years old, equalled the inter-service record time for the event. He led his Fourth Army mate, Bob Green, to the tape by about eight yards with Ollie Matson of San Francisco, third.

Litman's performance was one of five in which new All-Army track and field records were set.

Berg, Suggs Win, Bauer, Ziske Lose In Western Open

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 15 (AP) — Medalist Patty Berg and defending champion Louise Suggs easily moved through the first round of the Women's Western Open today but such stars as Joyce Ziske, Marlene Bauer and Betty MacKinnon were upset.

Miss Ziske of Waterford, Wis., one of the country's top amateurs, had her 25-year-old opponent, Polly Martin 5 down and 5 to go. Then she lost six consecutive holes as the St. Clairsville, Ohio, lassie, a physical education teacher at nearby Lake Forest, (Ill.) College, won the 19th.

Miss Berg, four-time winner of the meet and medalist with a course record 70 yesterday, snipped one stroke from par in eliminating Gloria Armstrong, Oakland, Calif., amateur, 6 and 4.

Miss Suggs, the defending champion and also a four-time winner, shot par golf to trim 14-year-old Mary Mills of Gulfport, Miss., 4 and 2.

Stringtown to five hits with the former getting credit for the win. Russ Robertson and Iser led the Central swatsmiths with two hits each. Iser and Keyser smacked two-baggers. R. Cook and Goss shared four of Stringtown's five safeties.

Boone, Burgess Lead In Major All-Star Poll

Pass Kell, Campanella In Battle Of Ballots

CHICAGO, June 15 (AP)—Two players who never have appeared in the All-Star baseball game today ousted two veterans of five showings as leaders in the balloting for the July 13 classic at Cleveland.

In the National League voting, Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers was displaced as No. 1 catcher by Forrest (Smoky) Burgess of the Philadelphia Phils, 2,354 ballots to 2,101.

In the American League, Ray Boone of the Detroit Tigers took over as third base leader from George Kell of the Chicago White Sox, 2,648 to 2,457.

Both Campanella and Kell are seeking a sixth All-Star call.

Four early leaders maintained positions in the nation-wide poll which started last Friday and ends July 3. They include second baseman Bobby Avila of Cleveland and shortstop Chico Carrasquel of Chicago in the American League and third sacker Randy Jackson of the Cubs and second baseman Red Schoendienst of St. Louis in the National.

Garver's ERA Average 1.42

Braves' Burdette Tops NL With 2.25

NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Lew Burdette of Milwaukee and Bob Porterfield of Washington, righthanders the New York Yankees traded in 1951, are making a lot of headway in the major league earned run averages as the 1954 campaign streaks into its third month.

Burdette, obtained from the Yankees in a transaction which sent Johnny Sain to New York, paces the National League with a 2.25 earned run mark. He has given up 21 earned runs in 84 innings while posting a 6-5 won-lost record. Porterfield's figures are even more impressive. Although he is runnerup to Detroit's Ned Garver, in American League competition, Porterfield has permitted only 24 earned runs in 105 frames for a 2.06 average.

Garver, in 12 games, has yielded 22 runs in 95 innings, but seven of the runs were unearned. His earned run slate is a sizzling 1.42. Curt Simmons of Philadelphia, with a 5-5 record, is runnerup to Burdette in the National League. The young southpaw has given up 23 earned runs in 88 frames.

Marciano Remains 3½ To 1 Favorite To Beat Charles

Ticket Sales Hit $300,000 For Title Go

Fight At Yankee Stadium Thursday Will Be Broadcast

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK, June 15 (AP)—Rocky Marciano remained a solid 3½-1 favorite to beat back ex-champ Ezzard Charles' bid for his heavyweight boxing title Thursday night as the big fight began to "catch on."

Promoter Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said today $300,000 worth of tickets already had been sold. He predicted a house of $500,000 or more with a break from the weather.

The weather man held the key to the success of the entire venture. If the fight has to be pushed back, it must be delayed a full week until Thursday, June 24.

Norris explained this unusual situation was the result of a conflict with night ball games Tuesday and Friday and lack of coaxial cable facilities for theater television on Monday when there are two regular network boxing shows.

Radio To Carry Bout

The bout will not be seen on home TV although it will be carried on network radio (ABC). Sixty-one theaters in 45 cities will be hooked up on theater TV with capacity of about 200,000 people. At $1 a head for the promoters and fighters plus $35,000 for radio, this should swell the fight gate close to $700,000. Marciano gets 40 per cent and Charles 20 per cent of the gate and theater-TV receipts.

Although the Weather Bureau ducked away from any positive long range forecast for fight night, it said the outlook was for warm, humid weather with a chance of late afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

It was sticky today with high humidity as the two boxers finished work at their training camps in the Catskill Mountains. Marciano went on the road for four miles and did calisthenics before settling down to some more heavy resting at Grossinger, N.Y. He did his final boxing Sunday, a total of 183 rounds since April 2. He weighed about 188 pounds but still expected to come in at 186 against Charles.

CAN EZZARD CHARLES win back the heavyweight boxing championship when he meets Champion Rocky Marciano in New York June 17? Well, the record books say "No." for several ex-champions have tried but not one has succeeded. James J. Corbett took on Jim Jeffries in 1900 but Jeffries, then champ, kayoed Corbett in 23 rounds. Bob Fitzsimmons also tried to win the title back and Jeffries thwarted his attempt, stopping Fitzsimmons in the eighth round in a title bout in 1902. Jeffries himself attempted a comeback and Jack Johnson kayoed him in 15 rounds in a title bout right down to the bell, sparring four rounds at his Kutscher's Country Club base at Monticello, N.Y. The Cincinnati Negro worked a total of 151 rounds for his second bid to win back the title, 45 at Cincinnati and 106 in the mountains.

Redlegs Purchase Draws From Phils

PHILADELPHIA, June 15 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies sold pitcher Karl Drews to the Cincinnati Redlegs for an undisclosed amount of cash today.

The 33-year-old right-hander has a 1-0 record for the season, but as was true last season, he hasn't shown the form he once displayed as a stalwart of the Phils' pitching staff.

Mrs. Eiler had a gross score of 50 with a handicap of 11. Mrs. Moberly's gross was 53 with a handicap of 14.

Thirty members participated in the tourney.

Golfers Figure 283 Score Will Take Open Title

Baltusrol Tourney To Open Thursday

By WILL GRIMSLEY
SPRINGFIELD, N. J., June 15 (AP)—Golf's hardened tournament tourists and wide-eyed favorite sons checked in at Baltusrol today and almost to the man scoffed at Ben Hogan's prediction that a record score may be needed to win the 54th National Open championship.

The general guess was that a tally of 283 to 285 for 72 holes would be good to capture top prize money of $6,000 in this premier test, beginning Thursday. Par for the 7,027-yard course is 70.

If Hogan can play broad Baltusrol in 276, the record score he set at Riviera in Los Angeles in 1948, the shotmakers conceded, then he should win his fifth Open championship without a contest.

Says Course Too Long
"This course is too blooming long for me," said Bobby Locke, the golfing gold prospector from Johannesburg. "I think it plays a par 76."

Jimmy Demaret, three-time winner of the Masters but never an Open champion, said the forecast of a score in the 270s "is absolutely ridiculous."

"Round up all the men you can get who want to bet on a score like that," he said. "I'll see their bets are covered. I know a man who is ready to bet $10,000 a score of 280 won't be broken."

Demaret played a practice round today with Sam Snead, who is suffering from a crick in the neck he says possibly could force him out of the tournament.

"The pain is still there," said Snead, "but when I get warmed up it doesn't bother me much."

Snead Shows Top Form
It wasn't bothering him much today. He was hitting his drives like rifle shots down the middle of the fairways and even his putter was behaving beautifully.

"He's hitting 'em 400 yards," said Vic Ghezzi, another partner.

"and he's had 13 one-putt greens," Snead didn't keep a card.
Hogan, refusing to budge from his analysis that the course is easy, was asked how he figured his own chances of victory.
"How many in the field?" Ben asked.
"One hundred and sixty-two," someone replied.
"Then that makes my chances 161 to 1," Ben replied blandly, pulling his cap tighter over his cold, grey eyes.

BROOKLYN, June 15 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves pounded 14 hits but had to come from behind twice to edge the Brooklyn Dodgers 7-6 tonight. Four singles in the eighth produced the two runs that put the Braves ahead to stay.

Del Crandall, who led the assault with three singles, drove in the tying run in the eighth after Andy Pafko had singled and moved to second on a sacrifice.

After a force play and a single by Bill Bruton, Johnny Logan singled home the winning run.

The victory was the Braves' third straight in Ebbets Field this season.

Gene Conley, who shut out the Dodgers here May 11, went the distance for his fifth victory. He's been beaten twice.

Al Rosen's Pinch Double Highlights Tribe's Win

Bats In Three Runs,
Cleveland Cops, 9-3

CLEVELAND, June 15 (AP)—Al Rosen, playing in his first game since June 4, hit a three-run pinch double for the Cleveland Indians during a six-run rally in the eighth inning tonight as the Tribe thumped the Washington Nationals 9-3.

Rosen, batting for Vic Wertz, came up with the bases filled and socked a pitch by lefty Chuck Stobbs, second Washington relief pitcher, into right center. His right index finger fractured by a ground ball in Chicago May 25, Rosen dropped out of the lineup in Philadelphia June 4.

The victory was the sixth straight for the Tribe and also the sixth, against three losses, for Art Houtteman, who is enjoying his best season since 1950.

Ted May Return This Weekend

BOSTON, June 15 (AP)—Ted Williams is doing everything he can to snap out of a virus attack but he still has to have a doctor's okay before he can rejoin his Boston

Red Sox teammates. The Boston slugger's physician, Dr. Timothy Lamphier, is dropping in on Ted Daily to check on his strength. So far it's too early to estimate when Williams can return to action though Ted says he hopes "to be back in the lineup at least by this weekend."

All Kinds Of Love

I suppose sooner or later there had to be a program dedicated to love, and Dumont has thoughtfully plugged that hole in the national program structure with a show called "Love Story" (Dumont 8:30 p. m. EST Tuesdays). If you have had your fill of Milton Berle and are seeking a complete change of diet, well, this is it.

Of course, any program so conceived and so dedicated is bound to get a little sticky now and then, love being what it is. On "Love Story," they got all kinds of love — young love, old love, married love — well, name anything. One story, for example, concerned a husband and wife writing team in which the marriage sprang a leak because the pair got to criticizing one another's prose with complete, though foolish candor. Naturally, no love, no matter how strong, can withstand a withering blast of criticism, writers being a touchy lot.

This one had Basil Rathbone east as the writer whose prose was under fire and a thin surface coating of urbanity to recommend it. "What's the trouble," says one character. "Tell me 10 per cent of it. I'm your agent."

"Oh, it's nothing!"

"As bad as that, eh?"

That's about as clever as the dialogue ever gets on "Love Story," but on the whole it's reasonably honest and devoid of strain. Some of the plots are a good deal more soapy and tearful than the mixup between the husband and wife team (which was settled with a kiss and the handsome admission from Mr. Rathbone that the chapter in question was just as bad as his wife had said it was, an improbable confession if ever I heard one.) Yesterday's story concerned a mother (Betty Field) whose drunkard of a husband had deserted her and her two children. Suddenly she discovered she has a disease (unspecified) which will kill her in six months to a year. What to do about the children? This problem is resolved, too, after rather more pulls at my heartstrings than I normally care about.

Still another one was a boy-meets-girl, boy-gets-girl story with no intervening nonsense about boy losing girl. The girl in the case was a sheriff in a decidedly odd little town where no crime ever intrudes. As one character explains: "No sense in killing anyone here. We got so much time on our hands we'd just as soon wait around for him to die of his own accord." Lee Bowman, as the boy, contributed a fine, light performance to this one and Peggy McCay, as the girl, was mighty cute, which was about all that was demanded of her.

The only thing you won't find on "Love Story" — or any, I haven't found it yet — is the grand passion. No one has yet swum the Hellespont for love but I expect they will eventually. Frankly, I think it's kind of sweet for a great big tough corporation like Dumont to make this small obeisance to the tender passion and I wish it luck with it. Love can, as the saying goes, make the world go round but it can't get a sponsor — or at least it hasn't.

There's nothing like a songwriter for keeping abreast of the great happenings of our day. We haven't got a poet laureate in this country but, by George, we have Tin Pan Alley and the boys. I'm happy to report, have not been idle.

The two great events of our day crying out for commemoration in song are, of course, — in the order of their importance — Libera and the McCarthy-Army hearings. There are two Libera songs now doing the rounds of the disc jockeys — "Hey Libera" and "When Libera Winks at Me." (I won't sleep nights until I've heard "When Libera Winks at Me.") The only song to spring out of the hearings, so far as I know, follows the straight Tin Pan Alley party line — "Point of Order, Baby, I Love You."

A tribute of love to the memory of my dear husband, Ralph T. Leasure, who passed away June 16, 1950.
Sad and sudden was the call of one so dearly loved by all: a bitter grief, a shock severe, it was to part with one so dear. I often sit and think of you, and speak of you to my dear friends. Before you closed your eyes, for all your friends, you did your best. Oh, God grant you eternal rest.

Some further decline in farm real estate values by next fall can be expected under these conditions, USDA says.

Roy Eves Re-elected City's Mayor

Keegan, Edwards, Buchholtz, Long Win Council Race

Incumbent To Be First Four-Year Chief Executive

Roy W. Eves was re-elected mayor of Cumberland yesterday when he piled up a lead of 694 votes over Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder while carrying 18 of the city's 25 polling places.

In his second comeback after taking second place in a primary, Mayor Eves secured 5,112 votes in his sweeping victory over Mrs. Roeder, who polled 4,418 votes in the hotly contested election.

Eves Thanks Voters

Informed of his victory in yesterday's general election, Mayor Roy W. Eves said:

"No small part of my gratification of the victory is the satisfaction of the knowledge that in this, and past campaigns, I have neither attacked the integrity, nor belittled the stature of my opponents.

"My sincere appreciation of this victory is second only to my keen sense of the responsibility placed upon my shoulders by the voters who have entrusted me with the administration of the first four-year term in the history of Cumberland.

"You voters have certainly given me great hope of success by having selected four excellent commissioners to work with me for the good of the city.

"I wish to thank all those who have so generously expressed approval of my efforts of the past two years."

Mayor Eves received the mandate to become Cumberland's first four-year mayor as 9,663 of the city's 15,171 voters went to the polls for a 64.1 per cent vote.

Both candidates received the votes of 260 in one polling place, Ward 6, Precinct 6, at Johnson Heights School.

Mrs. Roeder, who is completing her second term as commissioner of streets and public property, was

Congratulations

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder issued a brief statement of thanks to her supporters and congratulations to Mayor Roy W. Eves last night.

"This has been an exciting election. To those of you who worked so hard for my election, my everlasting thanks. It is thrilling for me to know that over 4,000 of you, my friends, braved the heat and the thunderstorm to go out from your homes to vote for me.

"My congratulations to Mr. Eves upon his election. I hope he will conduct the affairs of the city in such a progressive and democratic manner that it will overcome its depressed economic condition and go on to deserve bigger and better things."

the first woman to seek the top executive post in Cumberland. It was the first defeat she has suffered since she began her political career here in 1950.

Leads From First

Mayor Eves piled up a lead of 216 as the first six polling places reported, and had polled 1,025 votes to 709 for Mrs. Roeder.

His lead increased to 499 when he received 1,906 ballots in 19 polling places to 1,407 for Mrs. Roeder.

The B & O official extended the lead to 643 votes when 19 polling places reported, with the count standing at 3,956 for Mayor Eves and 3,313 for Mrs. Roeder.

His majority dropped to 614 with reports from 24 of the 25, and then rose to 643 as 6-4, at 401 Grand Avenue, reported.

Is Second Comeback

In his comeback from the June 1 primary, Mayor Eves carried all but seven of the polling places, and was supported "down the line" in every part of Wards 5 and 6, with the exception of the tie vote in 6-6.

Mrs. Roeder won substantial victories in Ward 1, Precincts 3 and 4, 3-2 and 4-2, L-Z.

Yesterday's election marked the third campaign waged by Mayor Eves and the second victory after a losing primary.

In the 1948 primary election, Eves was high man, leading former Mayor Thomas S. Post by 1,700 votes. He was nosed out in the general election which followed.

Two years ago, Mayor Eves was elected to his first public office when he led in 16 polling places to defeat William H. Buchholtz by 509 votes.

He trailed Mrs. Roeder by 121 votes in the June 1 primary.

Three Re-elected To Council Seats For Long Terms

Three members of City Council were re-elected and a former councilman was returned to that body in yesterday's general election—the first in which city officials were named for four-year terms.

Complete but unofficial totals for all 25 precincts:

For Council:
 William V. Keegan ..... 5241
 William J. Edwards ..... 5168
 William H. Buchholtz ..... 5046
 John J. Long ..... 4136
 George H. Tederick ..... 3935
 Keith T. Sisk ..... 2911
 Ward N. Hauger Jr. .... 2768
 F. Allan Weatherholt ..... 2674

Finance Commissioner Keegan, who was top man in the city primary election June 1, retained the lead position again yesterday but by a much smaller margin. Whereas he was an even 500 votes ahead of the second man in the primary, his margin over the nearest competitor in the finale was only 73 votes. In the primary he was the top man in 15 of the 25 precincts but was ahead of all others in 10 precincts in the general election.

Edwards Improves
 Water Commissioner Edwards made a better race in the general election than he did in the primary when he finished in third position. In the primary vote he was the absolute leader in only two precincts, but yesterday was the top vote-getter in four polling places. Buchholtz, who was the city's finance commissioner until he was defeated for mayor two years ago, dropped down one notch from his second-place finish in the primary. He was the leader in four precincts yesterday, compared with five first-place finishes in the primary.

Close Contest
 Long and Tederick, former water commissioner, were in mighty close race for the fourth council seat. Early returns, primarily from South Cumberland, where the former water commissioner made his best showing, had Tederick in third place, even ahead of Buchholtz.

At late returns came in from other sections of the city, especially from Long's home precinct and the West Side, the police and fire commissioner made his successful move. After figures for 19 of the 25 precincts were added, Long had forged ahead of Tederick into fourth place.

Tederick still was making a fight of it when the last precinct came, 6-4, where he was high man with 238 compared with only 163 for Long. His unofficial total placed him 201 votes behind the police and fire commissioner. He led in six precincts.

The other three candidates were lever in the running.

Two years ago in the general election Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder was the leader, Long was second, Keegan third and Edwards fourth. In that election Tederick finished seventh.

Downpour Sends Rainfall Total Above Normal
 A late afternoon lightning and rain storm poured nearly an inch of rain onto Cumberland in about half an hour yesterday.

The .98 inch of rain measured yesterday by Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, brought the June rainfall to 4.27 inches, some .39 inch above the June normal fall of 3.88 inches. Half of the month still remains.

Heavy downpours through the first half of June have brought the total rainfall in 1954 to 16.53 inches. Golden observed that normal for the first six months of the year is 17.98 inches, just 1.45 inches above the total so far this year.

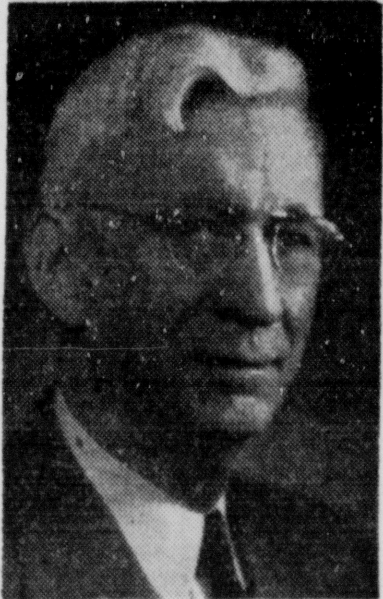

With hot, humid weather predicted to continue for at least another day, the weather observer believes the normal rainfall figure for six months may be reached this week.

The only unusual occurrence reported during the afternoon downpour was that lightning struck the tower of radio station WDYK. The lightning arresters on the tower prevented damage.

Yesterday's high temperature was 90 degrees. The day's low at Constitution Park was 62. At 8 p. m. the reading was 70 degrees. Relative humidity at 6 p. m. was 100 per cent.

Frederick and Cambridge were other Maryland cities reporting severe electrical storms. Heavy rains and winds have been observed. At least one man and eight cows were reported dead in those areas.

Md. Firemen To Convene In Ocean City

Western Maryland delegates will be attending the 62d annual convention of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, which will get under way next Wednesday in Ocean City and will close two days later with a parade through the center of town and down the Boardwalk.

William A. Chenoweth, Pikesville, president, will preside at the business sessions, and will be assisted by John W. Smith, West Annapolis, first vice president; Ted C. Gardner, Riverdale Heights, second vice president; William A. Wilson, Midland, treasurer, and Floyd B. Heimer of Branchville, secretary. Chaplain James W. Minter of Baltimore will officiate at all meetings and also will conduct the annual memorial services.

Volunteer firemen delegates and alternates from all over the state will attend the state convention, and many of them will take their families along for the trip, thus providing some measure of vacation for everybody.

In addition to reports of state officers and committee chairmen on their accomplishments during the past year, the program will include panel discussions and lectures.

Demonstrations pertinent to latest fire fighting and rescue tactics will be conducted by officials from Maryland University Fire Service School, and the Maryland Office of Civil Defense.

Commissioners Favor Firemen's Convention

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners yesterday authorized a letter to the Maryland Volunteer Firemen's Association urging that the group's 1955 convention be held in Cumberland.

When the 1954 convention starts in Ocean City June 23, members of the Allegheny-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association will make a big push to bring the next conclave here.

Heavy Ward 6 Gives Eves Wide Margin

Mrs. Roeder Carries West Side, North End

In an analysis of voting in the city's six wards, incumbent Mayor Eves carried four sections and Mrs. Roeder only two. The wards were consistent in the Council voting, so far as pattern was concerned, but Tederick, who led in South End, could not overcome the strength of the incumbents and Buchholtz across the city.

In the final unofficial tabulation there were 9,663 ballots cast out of a total registration of 15,071.

South Cumberland, as always, in big Ward 6, came out with the highest number of voters. Out of a total registration of 5,035 in that Ward, 3,186 voters trekked to the polls to give the ward to incumbent Mayor Eves.

Eves polled 1,850 to Mrs. Roeder's 1,282 in Ward 6. There were close contests in the council race with Tederick, in his home Ward leading with 1,647; Keegan, 1,575; Edwards 1,500; Long 1,332; Buchholtz, 1,318; Hauger, 1,005; Sisk 967 and Weatherholt 909.

West Side, the second largest ward, designated as Ward 1, has a total registration of 3,344. Here, 2,193 voters went to the polls and gave the ward to Mrs. Roeder by a slim margin, but not enough to offset South End.

Ward 1 tally shows Mrs. Roeder with 1,153 votes; Mayor Eves with 1,016. This is the Mayor's home ward.

In the Council contest, Ward 1 gave Buchholtz 1,341 votes, Edwards 1,213, Keegan 1,176, Long 1,147, Weatherholt 694, Tederick 639, Hauger 572 and Sisk 555.

Ward 2, in the Central part of the city, went to Eves with 428 to Mrs. Roeder's 314.

Keegan carried the ward with 533; Buchholtz 479; Edwards, 455; Tederick, 279; Long 248; Hauger 177; Sisk 173, and Weatherholt 150.

Ward 3, in North Cumberland, where there are 1,628 voters registered, had the best turnout of any section of the city. A total of 1,424 went to the polls and gave the ward to Mrs. Roeder with 722 votes against 674 for Mayor Eves. This is Mrs. Roeder's home ward.

The ward also went to Keegan with 825; Edwards 802, Buchholtz 767; Long 590; Sisk 532; Tederick 470; Hauger 369; and Weatherholt 330.

In Ward 4, where there are 1,811 voters with 1,134 casting ballots, Eves again eased past Mrs. Roeder with 593 votes to her 526. Ward 4 includes part of the central city and the Frederick Street area.

Here Edwards showed his strength, leading Council with 644; Buchholtz polled 641 for a close second; Keegan 586; Long 459; Tederick 457; Sisk 419; Weatherholt 332; and Hauger 305.

In Ward 5, Maryland Avenue area, with 1,590 registered and 974 voting, Eves took the ward with 551 to Mrs. Roeder's 421.

In the Council, Edwards polled 554; Keegan 546; Buchholtz 500; Tederick 443; Long 360; Hauger 340; Sisk 265; and Weatherholt 259.

The summary gives Eves four of the city's six wards and Mrs. Roeder two. Peculiarly enough, Mrs. Roeder carried her home ward and lost the election. Eves lost his home ward and won the election.

In the Council race, as first returns came in, it was evident that a contest was developing between Long and Tederick for the fourth-place spot.

All four of the losing candidates showed strength in spots, but of the second division Council candidates, Tederick was the only one who posed any serious threat to the top four primary candidates. As far as Buchholtz, Keegan and Edwards were concerned, it was only a question of which one of these three would finish first.

Local Voters Are Active At City's Polling Places

From the time the polls opened yesterday morning until the final ballot was dropped last night, there was plenty of activity at all the polling places.

Most of the candidates were out making last-minute efforts to persuade any voters whose minds were not yet made up, and volunteer and paid workers were in evidence everywhere.

Starting out with a beautiful day, tourist and regular traffic was snarled on several occasions in the downtown area, with the outpouring of autos sponsored by various candidates.

Activity remained brisk until mid-afternoon, when the heaviest election day downpour of rain in many years hit the city. Accompanied by thunder and lightning, water washed down from the hills, in torrents and in several sections of the city, voting and traffic came to a standstill.

At 3-2 on Franklin Street, an election official, to help keep things moving, stood at the curb with a huge black umbrella, taking people from their cars into the polling place and back.

While voting was heavier than the 51.53 per cent cast in the primary, it was still not as heavy as had been predicted. The rain halted some voting, but many observers believe that a large number of people on the polling books may be working out of the city, or just weren't interested.

Valley Street Bridge Work Is On Schedule

The construction of the new Valley Street Bridge is being expedited by the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company.

A spokesman for the firm said steel for the span should begin arriving on the site about July 15 and that the project should be completed on the original November 30 schedule set up for the work.

Construction is now running on schedule in spite of a delay of about 2½ months in the company's proceed order—due to difficulties in land acquisition.

All but one footer and one of the two abutments for the span have been poured, and progress is being made on the others.

The work was awarded to the Brotemarkle firm by the City of Cumberland under a $280,777.65 contract. Total cost of the bridge is expected to reach about a third of a million dollars, with land acquisition and engineering costs.

The single-span steel bridge is being built in connection with the $17,000,000 Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection Project.

Similar new single-span bridges are planned at Market and Baltimore streets as part of the rapid-channel plan for Wills Creek.
